State OK's County's Million Dollar WPA Plan

PROGRAM UP TO FEDERAL OFFICE NOW

Fate of Richland's Largest Work Relief Project to Be Known in 3 Weeks.

AFFECTS ROADS, BRIDGES

Improvements Would Provide Work for 500 Men for Two Years, Estimates Say.

The fate of Richland county's proposed $1,000,000 WPA road and bridge program, which had been approved today by the state office and forwarded to Washington, probably will be known within three weeks, County Engineer Howard C. Sword said today.

The program would include improvement of 100 miles of roads in the county, construction of 55 bridges and provide work for about 500 men for two years.

Pushed through the state WPA office and on to Washington in record time, the plan calls for the largest expenditure of federal funds on a single project of any ever proposed in the county.

Ditch Project Slashed.

In Columbus yesterday in the interests of the county road department's two proposed WPA projects, Sword and Deputy Engineer Walter E. Rusk learned that their $186,000 ditch program had been slashed to $133,000 because the county was not able to meet the requirements of the larger program.

Since the county's contribution to the ditch project will be largely in machinery and materials, with the use of machinery reducing the hand labor requirements, state WPA officials said the cut would be necessary if the project is to receive federal approval.

County's Share A Fourth.

Under the present set-up, the county would contribute about 24 per cent of the total cost as compared with 10 per cent under the original plan. There was no assurance, Sword said, as to when the county might expect action at Washington on the ditch request.

The plan, drawn up by Deputy Engineer Rusk, involves construction of a number of drainage ditches in all sections of the county. If approved at Washington, it would provide work during the summer for nearly 500 men.

Because of the increasing relief problem in the city and county, Sword said every effort was being made to get both work relief programs into the hands of officials at Washington.

OFFERS THEORY

Coroner Says Amateurs Stole, Killed Peter Levine.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—(INS)—Panic-stricken amateurs were blamed today for the kidnap-murder of 12-year-old Peter Levine, whose mutilated body was found on the short of Long Island sound last Sunday night.

Medical Examiner Amos O. Squire, of Westchester county, advanced the theory that novice kidnapers had severed the boy's head from his body in an effort to forestall identification. Dr. Squire saw their amateurish touch in the fact that Peter's clothes, easily identifiable, were not removed.

Dr. Squire discounted the theory that the lad's head might have been severed by the propeller of a boat. He contended the head was severed by the "snatchers."

All fishing is not done in a stream. The For Sale want ads "land" a cash "catch" selling fishing tackle, bait, boats, golf clubs, tents, bikes, lawn mowers, gliders, berries, vegetables, or cherries.

'Wildcat' Schemes Ruled Out

WEST RICHFIELD, O.—(U.P.)—William Schoenbeck, 69-year-old retired woodworker who won $150,000 on the English derby sweepstakes, today warned "wildcat" promoters and salesmen not to bother him with schemes for increasing his wealth.

"I suppose I'll be bothered with every 'wildcat' promoter and salesman in the state for a couple weeks," Schoenbeck said. "It won't do them any good to see me. I've made up my mind what I'm going to do with the money and none of it is going into gold mine or oil well stocks."

SENATE RACING TOWARD O. K. ON RECOVERY BILL

Night Session Threatened as Amendments to Earmark WPA Funds Stir Fight.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Racing toward speedy passage of the $3,250,000,000 relief-recovery bill, the senate was in an uproar today over amendments to earmark public works administration funds.

Final passage of the bill today was the goal of majority leader Barkley. He served notice the senate would be kept in session far into the night if necessary, to pass the bill and send it to conference with the house which already has passed it in somewhat different form.

In addition to the fight over earmarking of PWA funds, the senate faced a titantic struggle over an appropriations committee amendment to prohibit use of PWA funds for construction of municipal electric power plants.

Sees Drive Smashed.

Barkley predicted the drives for earmarking PWA funds and for the ban upon competition with private power companies would be smashed, leaving intact the provisions to give President Roosevelt broad discretionary power over projects that shall be constructed.

President Roosevelt's letter to Senator Adams (D) of Colorado, yesterday, urging that the administration be given wide discretion in expending the appropriations in the bill, because of what he characterized as emergency unemployment conditions, found the Democrats rallying to his banner.

Proposed amendments of a Democratic-Republican coalition to kill all provisions for PWA pump-priming projects and to boost the funds for WPA, appeared certain of defeat.

However, Senators Copeland (D) of New York, and Bailey (D) of North Carolina, continued their battle for PWA earmarking amendments. Copeland would have $325,000,000 allotted to the war department for construction of river, harbor and flood control projects already approved by the department's engineers.

The Bailey amendment would give priority in PWA projects to those already approved by the PWA. Both senators contended their earmarking amendments would conform to the president's contention that speed in getting projects under way is vitally necessary to meet the unemployment situation.

Soap Box Derby Time's Here Again---City's Second Annual Race Set for Late In July

Registrations Will Open Monday for Amateur Speedway Classic.

HEY, FELLERS—have you got an old soap box?

Why?

Well, soap box derby time is here again, and you certainly don't want to miss it this year.

And all you'll need is just an old soap box and a set of wheels to be a contestant in the great sporting event.

The News-Journal, in cooperation with the Mohican Chevrolet company and the Y. M. C. A., will stage the second annual Mansfield Soap Box Derby in the last week of July.

Judging from the success of the first edition of the races, the derby again will be the biggest amateur sporting event to be run off in Mansfield in 1938.

The 1937 derby attracted a crowd estimated at between 10,000 and 16,000 spectators on the hill at Sturges avenue below Glessner avenue.

One of the reasons why a record entry is expected this year is because the boys who didn't enter last year know now what they missed.

Lester Griebling of Cook road was crowned champion of the Mansfield soap boxers last year, and he'll tell you its worth winning the title.

In addition to receiving a number of awards, Lester got an all-expense trip to the All-American Finals in Akron, where the national championship will again be determined this year.

All boys in Mansfield and Richland county between the ages of 9 and 15 years, inclusive, are eligible to participate in the competition which will be divided into two divisions according to age for the preliminaries.

Registratons for the classic will open at Derby Headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. and at the Mohican company on Monday morning.

Derby entrants lining up for trials.

At the top of the list of awards and honors is a four-year scholarship to any college or university for the winner of the Akron finals. There are many other prizes, both locally and nationally, for winners of drivers of gravity-driven cars.

Every boy who enters the Mansfield race will be given a specially designed racing helmet patterned after those worn by famous speedway drivers.

Remember, it doesn't cost one cent to enter the derby. All that it is necessary to do to enter is go to one of the headquarters with your mother, father or guardian to sign the entry blank. There you will receive a book of rules and instructions.

Then get busy and build your car. Of course, you are not permitted to spend more than $10 in the construction of the car. But this detail and others are listed for your information in the rule books you will receive when filing entries.

Donald D. Cram, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., who did a fine job of conducting the derby last year, again will be general chairman.

So, in the meantime, fellers, start looking around for pieces of wood, boxes, wheels and tires from baby buggies and coaster wagons, and get ready for the big affair.

City, County Begin Study Of Budgets

Tentative Muny Estimate for '39 Set at $40,000 Under This Year.

A draft of a tentative city budget for 1939 asking for approximately $259,000 for general operating expenses—a sum approximately $40,000 less than was asked last year, and $10,000 less than was appropriated—was being compiled by city officials today.

The draft, which undoubtedly will be subjected to extensive revision before it goes to council for approval at the July meeting, will be acted on first by council's finance committee sometime this month.

Budgets Due By July 20.

Meanwhile, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, today had informed the county's 42 sub-divisions that they must submit their 1939 operating requests to the county budget commission by July 20. Blanks were mailed to the clerks of 16 boards of education, two cities, six villages and 18 townships.

Budget drafts will be acted upon by the local governing bodies and then submitted to the county for approval. After checking the amount of revenue available for next year, the budget commission will offer suggestions for any revisions in the requests that may be necessary.

In addition to general fund requests, the city draft will stipulate that approximately $131,000 will [illegible] interest charges on general bonds, City Auditor Paul Kelley said. This will boost the total funds sought to approximately $390,000, or $10,000 less than was appropriated last year for general fund operations and general bond retirement.

Kelley pointed out however, that the item of direct relief is not included in the tentative draft. With the city now shouldering the burden, it is expected that council's finance committee will have the matter of an additional $75,000 to wrestle with.

Request of the various city departments for 1939 operating funds show no marked increase. However, a reduction of nearly $4,000 is shown in the parks' department with the request for $7,600 for 1939 operating expenses against an appropriation of $11,200 last year.

Police and fire department estimated needs, submitted at $68,020 and $64,805 respectively, call for five additional patrolmen and a new fire station and equipment, and together constiute more than one-third of the total figure.

POSSES SPEED HUNT, HOOVER TAKES CHARGE

G-Men's Chief Takes Plane to Florida Where Hundreds Seek Trace of Boy, 5.

AGENTS QUIZ SUSPECTS

Movements of Probers Kept Secret; Hunters Told to Watch for 'Grave.'

(By Associated Press)

PRINCETON, Fla.—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, took charge of the James Bailey Cash, jr., kidnaping case today while small boats and divers augmented a huge posse combing this area in the rain for a trace of the 5-year-old victim.

Arriving at Miami from Washington, Hoover hastened immediately to the FBI office in a downtown skyscraper where agents have been questioning several suspects for 24 hours. He refused like his subordinates, to discuss the case and indicated he expected to be here several days.

Hundreds In Search.

Hundreds of men in khaki veterans' uniforms and hunting togs, many with pistols at their belts, assembled at dawn and were taken out in farm trucks to the sectors assigned for the second day of the search.

The hunt was extended northward through palmetto thickets, weeds and flat truck-farm lands.

The senior Cash and his wife remained secluded in their frame apartment building, although the father came to the [illegible] three telegrams.

It was learned that the anguished mother, who had been prostrate with grief, finally was sleeping.

The augmented searching force took the field at dawn, concentrating on areas north of the Cash home, the country southward having been combed yesterday.

Nine police radio cars from Miami cruised back roads, picking up instructions broadcast from headquarters established in a vegetable warehouse here and relaying them to posses.

Several In Custody.

The federal men centered efforts on tracking down the abductors, who accepted a $10,000 ransom payment without returning the victim.

In their custody were several persons—no outsider knew exactly how many—and a number of finds regarded as clues. But if the government's "kidnap squad" already knew who took young Cash from his bedroom last Saturday night it was a closely-guarded secret.

CZECH BORDER GUARD INTACT

(Editor's Note: Reports that Czech troops are withdrawing from the border are without foundation, H. R. Knickerbocker, International News Service correspondent reports today following a personal tour of the frontier.)

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

BRATISLAVA—Czechoslovakia's little army, recruited from her population of 15,000,000, still stands at every threshold of her frontier against the massive war potential of German's 75,000,000.

And here today in the capital of Slovakia, preparations made two weeks ago to evacuate all women and children from the threat of German guns have not been forgotten.

Statements abroad to the effect that considerable withdrawals of Czechoslovak troops have been made from the frontier are without foundation.

Among the reports which brought about Europe's most acute war crisis two weeks ago was information received by Prague that heavy German artillery had been moved up to Hainan expensive car with out of state license plates parked in front of the residence.

Friday said he had a tip that the machine was parked near the school Tuesday night and had been told that the car bore Indiana license plates.

Police who captured the man in his room said that he had his baggage packed and was ready to leave town.

His baggage, police said, included several brief cases and bags, one of which contained nearly $300 in dimes, nickels and quarters and another a complete kit of safecracking tools.

No charges have been placed against the man as yet.

Hunts for 100 Heirs To $30,000 Richland Estate

Bank as Administrator Gets Job After Supreme Court Upholds Kin Scattered Over Nation.

Finding nearly 100 heirs to the estate of the late Jacob Flowers of Sandusky township, a number of them unknown, was the task faced today by the Richland Trust company as administrator of the estate.

Located in many states from Ohio to California, the heirs will be sought by means of newspaper advertising, mail inquiries and through attorneys.

Right of heirs to the estate, which is valued at nearly $30,000, was upheld three weeks ago by the Ohio supreme court after a long court battle.

Planned Perpetual Trust.

When Mr. Flowers died in 1918 he left his estate to the widow, and specified that on her death the property should be held in perpetual trust for the First Methodist church at Galion, the Mansfield Salvation Army, the Methodist Foreign Missions and Board of Home Missions.

After Mrs. Flowers' death five years ago, however, heirs began court action for the right to share in the estate. They won in Richland county probate and common pleas courts, and the supreme court later upheld the lower courts after the beneficiaries appealed the case.

The Richland Trust company was appointed trustee and administrator to replace Edward Metcalf of Galion following the supreme court's ruling.

Hearing on the administrator's application for distribution of the estate will be held in probate court July 9. At that time the court will determine the amount due each heir, provided all of them are located by then.

OILMEN FINED

U. S. Judge Imposes Penalties in Anti-Trust Charges.

MADISON, Wis. —(U.P.)— Judge Patrick T. Tone fined 13 major oil companies and 11 executives $15,000 each and a total of $25,000 costs today when they pleaded nolo contendere to charges of anti-trust law violation.

The government thereupon moved to dismiss the indictment against 27 other executives of the companies which entered pleas, and began plans for bringing to trial Sept. 26 still other companies and their executives who did not join in the "no contest" agreement.

Charges involved in the cases were covered in a second indictment alleging that the defendants adopted uniform jobber contracts and policies in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

ADMITS CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING

Mail Carrier Pleads Guilty to Taking Bowling Funds; Sentence Delayed.

David R. Buell, 41, of 28 Ruth avenue, city letter carrier, pleaded guilty in common pleas court this morning to an indictment charging embezzlement, but Judge C. H. Huston delayed final disposition of the case until 9 a. m. Friday to give him time to question relatives and friends of Buell.

Through his attorney, T. Y. McCray, Buell admitted using $417 in funds of the Commercial C bowling league, and asked for permission to repay the money in installments of $20 a month. Buell, who has been employed by the postoffice department for more than 18 years, was secretary-treasurer of the bowling league and misused the funds of a perior of five months, beginning last Oct. 1, league officers charged.

"There is something back of this case, and I'm going to find out what it is," Judge Huston asserted in continuing the case. He said he would talk with members of Buell's family, officers of the bowling league and Postmaster Herman E. Homberger before sentencing Buell.

Judge Huston continued the $1,500 bond under which Buell obtained his release following his arrest last Saturday; two days after he was indicted secretly by the county grand jury.

DELAYED AGAIN

Windsor 'Cut-off' Plans Back for 'Minor Alterations.'

Another delay in completion of the Windsor cut-off on route 42 was seen today after plans for the project were returned from Washington with the suggestion that "minor alterations" be made before final approval is given the program.

County Engineer Howard C. Sword said he learned in Columbus yesterday that the required changes, involving construction details, would be made at once and revised project sent back to Washington for the expected approval.

Lack of funds and disputes over right-of-ways have held up completion of the highway job which was started four years ago as a CWA project.

Plans were approved last September by the state highway department and sent to Washington in January.

Pittsburgh Homes Go Breadless As Truckers Strike

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Bread supply became a problem today for several hundred thousand families in the Pittsburgh district as the ovens of 35 major baking companies cooled because of a strike of 1,400 truck drivers.

Also idle were 2,400 inside employes and leaders of the American Federation of Labor's bakery truck drivers union predicted they would join the drivers in a sympathy walkout.

Fighting broke out and two men were hurt as 58 trucking companies formed picket lines on principal highways to prevent freight movements of seven firms which signed a union contract.

The strike became effective last midnight, 24 hours after the AFL's General Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers union ordered out 1,000 long distance motor freight haulers.

The arrest of a 31-year-old suspect in the burglary of the Senior high school Tuesday night was announced today by Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

The suspect, who gave a New York address, confessed, according to Bates, that he staged the attempted safecracking at the school and robbed the library of $8 in change. He also admitted, the chief said, to looting a school in Piqua and in Marion in the past two weeks.

The man was arrested yesterday by Bates, Detectives E. C. Fuller, Lee J. Remy and Oscar Krupp at the home where he was staying on Sycamore street after Lieut. Bruce Friday had sighted

Roosevelt Tells Funny Story As Annapolis Graduates 435

(By International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — President Roosevelt today started a new class of navy ensigns on their career with a funny story and the serious admonition they must constantly seek to broaden into other fiends the specialized education they received at the naval academy.

Acting in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the Navy, the president handed out diplomas to 435 graduates of the 1938 class. Then, he stood smiling as the cadet corps signalled the end of another year by tossing their white caps high into the air and singing the navy hymn and "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. Roosevelt's address was brief, and brought to a close the colorful annual exercises of June week at the academy. He did not touch on world affairs as such, nor did he take advantage of the opportunity as some expected, to restate this country's foreign or defense policies.

The serious phase of the president's talk emphasized the recent action of Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson who decreed that graduating midshipmen before their commissions become permanent must complete a course of reading designed to carry mental training into fields beyond the Mary Bushnell and Norma Jean Young entertained in honor of Anna Marie Fischer last night at the Young home, 185 Lind avenue, with a farewell party. A color scheme of pink and blue was carried out and a centerpiece of roses was used. Anna Marie, who was born in Germany, will leave tonight for New York where she will sail with her father, Henry Fischer, 188 Lind avenue, on the Europa Saturday for Germany. When Mr. Fischer and his daughter return they will be accompanied by Mrs. Fischer's mother. A number of gifts were given the honoree.

ON PROBATION

Two Youths Indicted by Grand Jury Win Leniency.

After taking their cases under advisement following their arraignment three days ago in common pleas court, Judge C. H Huston today had granted probation periods to two youths indicted last week by the grand jury.

Robert Bushey, 19, of Shelby, under indictment for forgery, was placed on probation for three years and ordered to report regularly to Harry Crouse, county probation officer.

John Thomas, 25, Mansfield, who pleaded guilty to an indictment for breaking and entering, was given a two-year probation period by Judge Huston. He will also report to Crouse.

Thomas admitted entering a restaurant at 157 Orange street and taking about $4 from a pin ball machine.

The city clerk wasn't surprised, because Skippy did the same thing last year and the year before.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

DALLAS — Flames like moths. This new fact about the well known "moth and flame" attraction, in which it is the moths that like the flames, was discovered in the new potash industry in New Mexico.

It was reported to the American Chemical Society here by T M Cramer, of Carlsbad, N M He said a new potash plant near here was pestered with moths Every morning 40 to 50 pounds of them had to be swept out of the building

There was nothing in the scientific records about how to get rid of this nuisance. The potash engineers invented a method.

At night they opened all the windows and turned on all the lights in the plant The moths flew in Then windows were closed and lights turned out, except in the power plant

The moths thereupon flew into the power plant section. When they were all there, the lights were doused in all except the boiler room. So the moths all flew into the boiler room.

Finally the lights of the boiler room were extinguished and the doors of the furnaces opened. The moths all flew into the fire.

Book of the Week

"YOUNG MAN WITH A HORN," by Dorothy Baker; (Houghton Mifflin.)

* * *

This, very briefly, is what "Young Man With a Horn" is about—

A boy named Rick lives in California rather skimpily, and wholly without parental guidance. He gets a job setting up pins in a bowling alley, and contracts a passion for the piano at the same time. He teaches himself piano while earning money to buy a "horn," by which Dorothy Baker, the author of the novel, means a trumpet and not a French horn as everybody else does.

Rick develops a passion for music. He has, at first, only one friend, a Negro named Smoke who sweeps out the pool hall once in a while. Smoke also is a drummer and lazy. The two boys fall into the habit of listening to a certain Negro band, sitting for hours outside the joint where the band plays.

And Rick becomes, as you may have guessed, the best trumpet player in all the dance band world. He has, Miss Baker wants you to understand, the kind of genius which eats itself up.

He goes to New York and makes pots of money, finally marrying a girl about whom Miss Baker hints a lot, but that's all. He drinks too much, and before he is thirty he has drunk himself into a straitjacket—and shortly thereafter into his grave.

It will be seen that the success of this tale lies in two considerations—whether you believe it matters that Rick became the best hot trumpet in America, and whether you believe in the characters themselves.

COUNTY'S 19 ENVOYS TO BUCKEYE BOYS' STATE HONORED AT DINNER

Nineteen Mansfield and Richland county high school boys, who have been selected to attend the 10-day Buckeye Boys' State opening at Columbus June 18 were feted last night by Earl McVey post, American Legion, at the Legion home.

Also guests of the Legion at the dinner meeting were Boys' State delegates for 1936 and 1937 and Mansfield and Richland county school superintendents and principals.

Complimenting the group of 1938 delegates for their scholarship standings which resulted in their selection to attend the Columbus conference, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston urged them to go to Columbus with the idea of learning to be statesmen and not politicians

"It is not law that compels you to be good citizens, but the proper home life and your desire to make the most of your opportunities," Judge Huston said

Rev R C Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, pointed out that the Boys' State enables youths to learn the processes of government and proves the quality of the boys who attend.

Members of the Richland county delegation will be under the direction of J. Earl Ports of the McVey Legion post. Approximately 700 boys from all parts of Ohio will set up state, county and city governments of their own at the State fairgrounds during the Boys' State sessions

Members of the county group are:

Roger Nixon, Joseph Lesch, Robert C. Roth, Mike H Horvath, William A. Harmony, Warren H. Bradford, Harold A. Duda, Lee Lanzen and Pete Mihailoff, all of Mansfield, Howard Taylor, Lexington; Robert Baker, Ontario; Russell Kelser, Lucas; Roger W. Adam, Elmer John Hay, Richard Brokaw and Jerome A. Coleman, of Shelby; Guy J. Cunningham and Earl C. Cashman, of Plymouth, and Robert Mosier, Shiloh.

Open Eastern Trip on Short End of Score

Indians, Harder Battered By A's, 9 to 5.

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Ineffective pitching today had cost the Cleveland Indians an opportunity to stretch their American league lead and resulted in the club getting off to an inauspicious start on its second eastern road trip of the season.

The Indians were hammered into submission by a 9 to 5 count here yesterday by the sixth place Philadelphia Athletics.

Handled Roughly.

Manager Oscar Vitt started the veteran Mel Harder in the box and the choice was an unhappy one. Harder was battered from the outset of the contest and in the two and one-third innings he lasted took one of the worst drubbings of his long career.

Before Harder could retire a batter in the first inning the Athletics filled the bases on successive singles by Wally Moses, Dick Seibert and Bill Werber. Frank Hayes popped out and then Bob Johnson slammed out a home run to give Philadelphia a lead it never lost.

Philadelphia scored one run in the second and then in the third when Rookie Sam Chapman hit a home run with one man on base. Harder went to the showers. The Athletics' final counters came in the sixth on another circuit drive by Hayes that scored Werber ahead of him.

Johnny Humphries, who relieved Harder, gave up only two hits but was extremely wild and walked nine batsmen in four and two-third innings. Bill Zuber was nicked for one hit in the inning he worked.

Averill Socks Homer.

Cleveland scored twice in the second inning and added three more in the fifth when Earl Averill hit a homer with two mates on base.

The clubs were to meet again today with Earl Whitehill and Edgar Smith as the rival pitchers.

DAVIS HURLS 'MASTERS TO WIN OVER SOUTH MAIN

Yielding only five hits and striking out 11, Bob Davis hurled the Schoolmasters to a 7 to 2 victory over the South Main church team at Tappan field yesterday. The Schoolmasters tallied four runs in the first inning to take a lead that was never threatened. Divelbiss collected three hits for the winners. Kibler and Fendrick hit triples. Merschdorf obtained three of the losers' five hits.

Legion Team Meets Central Ohio League Leader Sunday

Host to Unbeaten Phillies in Affray Scheduled at Fairground.

MANSFIELDERS will be offered their first opportunity to check up on the strength of one of the Central Ohio league leaders Sunday when New Philadelphia comes to the Fairground for a tussle with the American Legion club.

At this writing the New Phillies stack up as one of the strongest clubs in the semi-pro circuit, and they are expected to figure very prominently in the title battle which is still in its infancy.

Whip Columbus.

The Tuscarawas county representatives proved their class on Memorial Day when they handed the touted Federal Glass entry of Columbus its first setback of the season.

The victory enabled the Phillies to go into a tie with Newark for first place in Joe Donnelly's circuit.

Sporting a record of three straight victories in as many games, the New Philadelphia lineup is stocked with veteran performers, many of whom have had professional experience.

With two victories in four games to show for their efforts so far this season, the Legionnaires can enhance their first half title hopes materially with a victory over Sunday's invaders.

The pitching Manager Dewey Durant's team has received to date has been of high order, but the attack has been inconsistent.

The Legion team has outhit every foe this season, but it has been unable to produce runs.

Lose Despite Hits.

For instance, the Legionnaires obtained 13 hits in Monday's game at Coshocton, but the latter team won on six because the Mansfielders failed in the pinches.

A change or two may be made in the lineup this week in an attempt to bolster the run-making department, according to Durant.

Seek Second Wins Friday

The Schoolmasters, Zent's Radios and J. A. C. club will be seeking their second victories of the season in the Club softball league Friday.

The Schoolmasters, who are the defending champions, meet the Hermit club at Liberty park in one of the feature tilts. In the other games, the Catholic Foresters meet J. A. C. at Prospect park, the Radios face the Wesco club at Empire field and K. of C. tackles Local 40 at North park.

Cab Company Enters Field

The DeLuxe Cab company will place a strong Class A softball team on the field again this year under the management of Ben Feeman. Class A teams wishing games with the Cabs are requested to contact Pete Nadison, Canal 3545.

The Cabs will play a practice game with the Musille Cigars at Columbia field at 6:15 p. m. Friday.

BENNETT LEADS HOME TO SEVENTH VICTORY

The Children's home team registered its seventh straight victory yesterday when it defeated the Lexington Grocery, 28 to 11, at the home. The home players scored in every inning but the first. They tallied eight runs in the sixth. E. Bennett led the home's attack with two home runs, two doubles and a triple. R. Morehead also hit a circuit drive for the winners.

Nick's Place softballers hung up their third straight triumph and the Dominion Electrics registered their second to remain the only undefeated clubs in the Y. M. C. A. Commercial league today.

The Tappan Stoves were knocked out of the undefeated class yesterday when they bowed to Nick's team, 5 to 1, at Liberty park. The Dominion club defeated the All-State Freights, 11 to 4, at Prospect park, and the Miller Dairys won over the Hartman Electrics, 10 to 5, at North park, and the Page Dairys trimmed the Sweet Oils, 11 to 2, at Empire field.

Held to Four Hits.

Although held to four hits by Kleer, Nick's Place made good use of its hits and three passes to tally five times, while Gross kept the Stoves' six swats well scattered.

Young of Nick's Place and Kyle of the Stoves each collected two hits to lead their teams at the plate. L. Smith of the Stoves pounded out a triple.

The Dominion Electrics obtained 17 hits as they whipped the All-States. Hayfer, Goler and Hinshaw led the Dominion attack with three hits apiece. McKinley was the pitching victim.

The Miller team registered its first league victory over the Hartman Electrics. Kenny Lockhart pounded out a home run and two singles to pace the Dairys, while Bill Moritz limited the Electrics to six hits and struck out 12.

Collects Four Hits.

J. Massa collected four hits in five trips to the plate to lead the Page Dairys to their victory over the Sweet Oils. The Dairymen secured 14 hits, and cinched the game in the first inning when they sent six runs across the plate.

Hoffman of the Oils and Walters of the Dairys hit for the circuit. Sandel gave the Oils six hits.

Vern Kennedy Gives Mickey Edge In Trade

Hangs Up Eighth Straight Win Over Yankees.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — The "friendly feud" between those teammates of Connie Mack's great clubs of 1929-30-31, Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Dykes, was a horse of another color today.

Now rival managers of the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago White Sox, Cochrane and Dykes are two of the keenest rivals in baseball—in a ball game, a trade or any battle of wits. Dykes drew first blood with his "city slicker sale" of Al Simmons to Cochrane for $75,000 two years ago.

Laugh's On Dykes.

Dykes' laugh over that deal is now a little hollow for Cochrane finally has the upper hand. He has Vernon Kennedy, the eccentric pitcher whom Dykes traded to Detroit last winter with the belief that he was putting over a fast one. Cochrane gave Gerald Walker, Marvin Owen and Rookie Mike Tresh for Kennedy and Dixie Walker. A storm of disapproval broke over his head because Gerald Walker had been a Detroit hero.

The murmur of the fans has turned to cheers however for Kennedy hung up his eighth straight victory yesterday as the Tigers downed the New York Yankees 8 to 4.

Kennedy blanked the Yanks until the last two innings at which point he had an 8-0 lead.

The victory enabled the Tigers, still in fifth place, to move within five games of the league-leading Cleveland Indians who lost to the Athletics 9-5.

In the other two American League games Washington beat the White Sox, 5-4, on Buddy Lewis' ninth inning single, and the Boston Red Sox triumphed over the St. Louis Browns, 6-3, on Manager Joe Cronin's homer with two mates on.

Lose Again.

The New York Giants dropped their third straight and had their National League cut to two games as they were beaten by Pittsburgh 4-1. The second-place Chicago Cubs were idle because of rain.

Cincinnati turned back Brooklyn 4-1, behind Johnny Vander Meer's five-hit pitching and the St. Louis Cardinals hammered out a 9-4 victory over the Phillies.

SPECIALTIES, STEELS LEAD QUIET RALLY

Bonds Buoyed by Reception for Offering of U. S. Steel Debentures.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and specialties led a quiet resumption of the forward tilt in today's stock market.

Bonds again displayed rising tendencies, apparently buoyed by the favorable reception announced for today's $100,000,000 offering of U. S. Steel debentures. It was reported these were already being quoted at a premium.

Further strength in commodities was helpful for stocks. Aiding copper shares was a boost in the scrap metal and a lift in export rates. Additional shut-downs of copper mines as a means of coping with over-production was a stimulating factor.

Extension of Wednesday's rally was attributed by most brokers mainly to the belief of speculative forces that the market was due to retrace more of the recently lost ground.

Holders of the steels found nothing particular to cheer about in the weekly survey of "Iron Age," delayed because of the holiday.

The publication said prospects of consumer buying in any large amount during the next two months at least were far from encouraging. This week's mill operations were estimated at 25 per cent of capacity, off 3 points from the preceding week to the lowest figure in nearly four years.

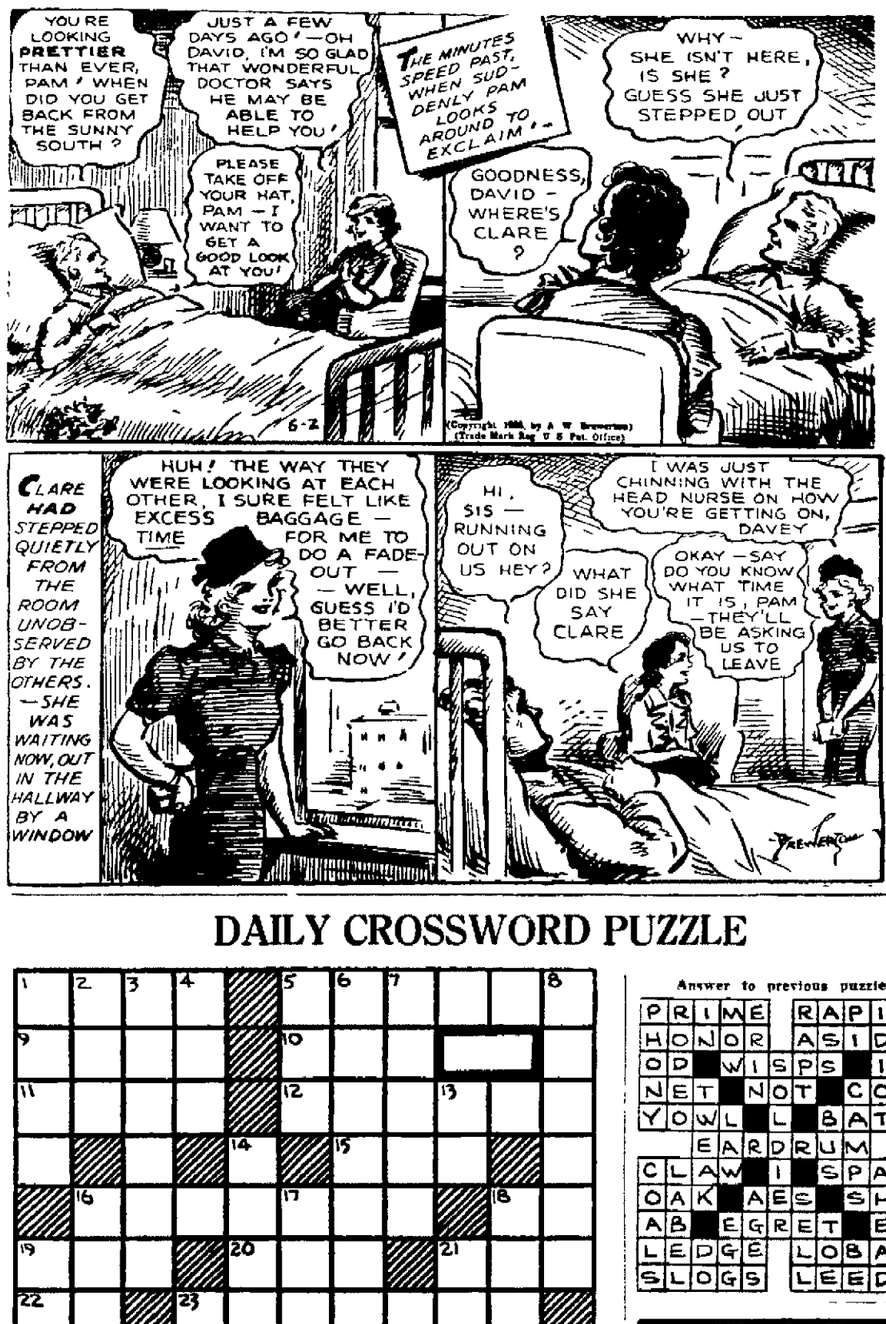
PAM— Wise Sister! By A. W. Brewerton



YOU'RE LOOKING PRETTIER THAN EVER, PAM! WHEN DID YOU GET BACK FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH?
JUST A FEW DAYS AGO!—OH DAVID, I'M SO GLAD THAT WONDERFUL DOCTOR SAYS HE MAY BE ABLE TO HELP YOU!
PLEASE TAKE OFF YOUR HAT, PAM—I WANT TO GET A GOOD LOOK AT YOU!
THE MINUTES SPEED PAST, WHEN SUDDENLY PAM LOOKS AROUND TO EXCLAIM!—
GOODNESS, DAVID—WHERE'S CLARE?
WHY—SHE ISN'T HERE, IS SHE? GUESS SHE JUST STEPPED OUT
6-2
CLARE HAD STEPPED QUIETLY FROM THE ROOM UNOBSERVED BY THE OTHERS.—SHE WAS WAITING NOW, OUT IN THE HALLWAY BY A WINDOW
HUH! THE WAY THEY WERE LOOKING AT EACH OTHER, I SURE FELT LIKE EXCESS BAGGAGE—TIME FOR ME TO DO A FADE-OUT—WELL, GUESS I'D BETTER GO BACK NOW!
HI, SIS—RUNNING OUT ON US HEY?
I WAS JUST CHINNING WITH THE HEAD NURSE ON HOW YOU'RE GETTING ON, DAVEY
WHAT DID SHE SAY CLARE
OKAY—SAY DO YOU KNOW WHAT TIME IT IS, PAM—THEY'LL BE ASKING US TO LEAVE

BLUE ON WHITE

Penitentiary Prepares to Make 1939 Automobile Tags.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Blue numerals on a white background will be the color scheme of 1939 Ohio automobile licenses, W. I. Bishop, Ohio penitentiary chief clerk, has announced.

Bishop said the plates would again be of standard weight instead of the thin material necessitated this year by the Northwest Territory commemorative design.

Production of approximately 2,000,000 sets of plates will begin June 15, Bishop said, with about 6,500.

Views A-plenty!

Mrs. Smith was a very conscientious person. Therefore, when she engaged a new maid she asked as many questions as are asked in a civil service examination.

"Have you," she asked sternly, "any religious views?"

"No, ma'am I haven't," answered the girl, "but I've got some dandy snapshots of Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes."

It's An Ill Wind.

Chorus Girl: I'm afraid my reputation is ruined.

Her Lawyer: That's fine. Our fortunes are made.

GOLD IN FLOOD SILT

PASADENA, Cal.—(UP)—Rains which caused the Los Angeles floods washed down so much silt from the mountains that it got the better of the curiosity of H. J. Bernard, veteran gold prospector. He began panning for gold in the silt along Colorado street. Now he is exhibiting flasks of gold that he panned within the city limits.

SEARCH SWAMPS FOR KIDNAPERS

Florida Posses Renew Hunt as Hoover Arrives to Take Command of Probe.

announced 1,000 Legionnaires would join the spreading hunt, augmenting the hundreds of armed men who yesterday beat over palmetto groves and truck lands.

An indication of what the FBI men thing the searchers might find was contained in final instructions of E. J. Connelly, head of the justice department forces, to the possees.

"We must face the strong possibility this little boy will be found dead," Connelly told the posse leaders. "If you see signs of freshly disturbed dirt—dig. Take your time and dig deeply. Look well in every canal you pass, and in every clump of bushes. Overlook nothing."

Connelly also gave instructions that if the boy is found alive he be taken immediately to the nearest hospital or to his home.

One of those questioned in FBI headquarters at Miami yesterday was M. F. Braxton, unemployed carpenter and a Princeton neighbor of the Cash family. He was taken into custody after the agents conferred with the sorrowing father and mother.

There was no confirmation or denial of reports that others taken to Miami were a relative of Braxton, a truck driver, a soft drink stand operator, a fisherman and a man wanted at Homestead for automobile robbery. The Miami Herald said the operator of a Miami night spot was questioned also.

SEEK SANITY TEST

MT. VERNON—(U.P.)—Attorneys for Fred Mosley, convicted of killing his wife, said today they will seek to have the 45-year-old World war veteran undergo a sanity test. Common Pleas Judge Charles D. Hayden denied a motion for a new trial.

HAGUE ANSWERS CRITICS, HITS 'COMMUNISM'

Jersey Mayor Says Report of Legislative Group Backs Views on CIO.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(INS)—Mayor Frank Hague today issued a statement in which he declared that his claim that the CIO is largely influenced by communists is supported by the report made to the Massachusetts legislature in Boston.

The report was made by a special committee after a long study of so-called subversive activities in that state

Mayor Hague's statement read

"The startling revelations of the Massachusetts legislative commission, regarding its investigation of CIO activities, and its tie-up with the communist party, sustains my condemnation of that organization

Refers to Past.

"For the past few years I have been directing attacks at the CIO, and have repeatedly charged that it was governed and controlled by the communists

"Under the guise of the CIO, allegedly to sponsor the advancement and betterment of the American workingman, the communist party is seeking to promote its own interests

"My every utterance and word against the CIO is not based on unfertile ground I know from where I speak. A long time ago information that came into my possession emphatically convinced and proved to me that the CIO was a camouflage for the communist party. This is the destructive element which is allegedly fighting the battle of the downtrodden American workingman

"Every red-blooded American should read the full report of the Massachusetts legislative commission to get the real background of the working and scenes of the CIO, which is a front for the communists"

TRAP SPRINGS

But Japs Launch Drive to Escape Annihilation.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—The Japanese attacked strongly fortified Chinese divisions between Lanfeng and Kaifeng today in a determined effort to escape a trap the Chinese had set for them north of the Lung-Hai railroad.

The Japanese reported that 14 Chinese divisions under the personal command of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek began a strategic withdrawal from positions between Lanfeng and the Yellow river after Lieut. Gen. Kenji Doihara's Japanese forces took Kihsien, south of the Lung-Hai railroad.

highly technical training of the academy curriculum.

"No matter whether your specialty is naval science, or medicine or the law, or teaching, or the church, or the civil service or public service," the president reminded the young ensigns, "remember that you will never reach the top and stay at the top unless you are well-rounded in your knowledge of all the other factors in modern civilization that lie outside of your own special profession

"This applies to all of world thought and world problems, but it applies, of course, with special emphasis to the thought and problems of our own nation."

The president's humorous reference brought smiles to the faces of the midshipmen. He told of another visit he paid to Bancroft hall for graduation exercises, during the World war when he was assistant secretary of the navy, weary and sleepless.

"Because of the strenuous work in the navy department," explained the president, "I was a bit in arrears on sleep. The temperature in this hall was in the neighborhood of a hundred. There I was sitting on the right of the superintendent of the naval academy.

"The speaker of the occasion began his address. My eyes slowly but firmly closed. I think my mouth fell open. I slept ungracefully but soundly directly in front of the eyes of the entire graduating class. Could anything be more un-military, more humiliating — but more satisfactory?"

CONVICTED IN FRIEND'S DEATH

Once Wealthy Detroit Woman Faces Prison in Killing of Business Associate.

DETROIT—(AP)—A jury of eight women and four men convicted Mrs. Julia M. Barker, once wealthy Detroit real estate operator, of manslaughter today for the fatal shooting Jan 15 of Mrs. Edith Mae Cummings, her business associate.

The jurors deliberated eight hours Mrs Barker, who had waited impassively, heard their verdict without changing expression. She had been confident of acquittal.

The maximum penalty for manslaughter is 15 years' imprisonment. Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne, who presided at the two weeks' trial, ordered Mrs Barker remanded to jail pending a study by probation commission

The state, indicting Mrs Barker on a charge of first degree murder, sought to prove she feared Mrs. Cummings was about to make revelations concerning real estate deals for which both women faced fraud charges in Kentucky.

On the witness stand, Mrs. Barker told the jury Mrs. Cummings was in dire financial difficulties at the time of her death, and that she had threatened suicide. The shooting occurred during a struggle for a gun that Mrs. Cummings drew as they walked in the ravine, Mrs Barker testified

Mrs Evelyn Fosha, on whose farm the body was found, testified she heard shots, ran to the scene and saw one woman beating another and kicking her body down the hillside

CHAPTER XX

Throughout the following day Clay Odell fancied that there was an unusual grimness in his employer uncle's attitude. By noon, it was so marked that the younger man decided not to eat lunch at home. He intended to have a session with Romulus that evening.

It was nearing one o'clock when he dropped into the delicatessen of H Schloss for a sandwich. Before he finished his lunch, the few other patrons had departed and the proprietor was lingering near at hand.

"How is business, Mr Schloss?" he inquired.

"She's rotton, Mr Odell" Schloss eased himself into a nearby chair "I hear you are not having it so good at the mills, too. Yes?"

"Oh, we're a little slack just now," Clay admitted.

"So I'm hearing A little friend of Mama's and mine comes in yesterday and tells me she is laid off by Mr Wardlaw. She would work for me, even, so badly she needs a job I could do nothing for her It's a shame when a nice girl like her wants to work and there is nothing"

Glay frowned Then Larry did need another job Needed it pretty badly, if she was willing to work in a place like this

"Yes," he agreed slowly, "there's a lot wrong with this world, Mr Schloss"

He still was brooding over the accidental information when he returned to the office and the smoldering resentment against Romulus grew with each sight of him and the harsh sound of his voice. A rotton trick to play on a girl If he lived, he'd make it up to Larry And he intended to do both.

* * *

That evening, he was spared a request for an interview The bid came from Romulus And with an ominous harshness.

"I want to talk to you, Clayton . . . if you can spare the time from your wooing"

So that was it. Clay's tone was equally forbidding.

"Fine I want to talk to you, too I'll be right with you."

A few minutes later when he went to the library, he found his uncle limping angrily up and down the length of the room He halted with his back to the empty fireplace when his nephew appeared.

"Well, sir," he sneered, "I find that you persist in being two kinds of a fool. It's really remarkable. How do you expect to get anywhere in business when you go courting half of every night?"

"I suppose I should congratulate you on the good work of your scouts. Instead, I'll merely say that I feel I'm not accountable to you for the way I conduct my affairs outside of the office. We'll drop that, if you don't mind."

"Scouts? Bah! You think you can park your car before anybody's door for two or three nights straight and not start every old woman's tongue wagging?"

"Not to forget the old man" Clay amended grimly.

"Time enough for you to be thinking of marrying in another five years, if then," his uncle went on unheedingly "You've got to settle down and get a start It's ridiculous to try to make yourself or that girl believe it's serious Wait and find somebody that's got something . . somebody that can do something for you. I want it stopped"

"And I said I wanted it dropped. I mean it There is something else I want to talk about . . . something that really concerns you."

Romulus glared and said nothing Clay continued:

"I wish you to release me from that ridiculous contract of ours I mean the notice clause. If I am willing to forego a month's salary, it seems to me you should be satisfied. I'm not accomplishing anything for either of us while I remain this way. We'll both be better off if I go now. If you hadn't stipulated among other things that I live here I'd relieve you of my presence tonight. The whole thing is getting rather unbearable to me and I imagine it is to you."

"So you still plan to throw away your chance here?"

"If you wish to call it that, yes"

"Very grateful, I'm sure. I'm warning you sir, that I am very much tempted to tell you something . . about yourself"

"It's difficult to imagine that it is of any particular consequence"

"Spare me your fine airs, young man. I'm a little fed up on your lofty ideals. You have as good as told me that you think me an old skinflint...only you tried to spare my feelings with more polite words You don't like the way I do business You think you don't want to be associated with me or be under any obligations to me That puts it about right, doesn't it?"

"So what?"

"Am I right or wrong?"

"For the sake of the argument, we'll say that you are....quite right."

"Now we're getting somewhere. I didn't mean to go into this. I never would have, if you hadn't proved yourself so high-handed I don't intend to let you go in thirty days from now, thirty weeks or thirty months I'm going to give you a chance to make good on those principles you prate about....let you fish or cut bait"

"Will you be good enough to tell me what you're driving at?" Clay demanded

"Surely But you'll have to let me do it in my own way. Let me see....If I remember rightly, you told me that your father gave you two years in college, then let you have a business administration course at a university. You were a fortunate young man. From the little I knew of your father, I'm surprised that he managed it. I always was under the impression that he was...."

General belief that business will improve "next fall" might make it improve this summer.

A calendar reform movement that would promise to bring paydays closer together would be assured of strong support.

Now that it has been demonstrated that $35 worth of gold can be transmuted into $1 worth of mercury, another fertile field of experimentation opens for the New Dealers.

More Dangerous Than a Mad Dog.

CIRCUMSTANCES connected with the ravishment and murder of a 6-year-old Cincinnati girl by a 15-year-old boy point strongly to this being another of the marijuana crimes, which have become all too common over the country.

In any event, the boy, during his confession, explained that the whole occurrence seemed "just like a dream," and told of having been given a cigaret by a stranger and of not remembering anything for two hours after he had smoked it.

This tragedy attains more than ordinary local interest as the result of disclosures that clandestine distribution of "reefers" or "muggles"—slang terms for marijuana cigarets—has again reached dangerous proportions in Mansfield and is a constant threat to the health and morals of a number of this city's young people.

The following excerpts from a recent booklet, "Marijuana, the New Dangerous Drug," by Frederick J. Merrill, is illuminating:

"Giving away free samples and representing the drug as no more harmful than tobacco, the peddler is still hawking his wares from hot dog stands, in dance halls and pool rooms. . . .

"The use of marijuana has spread, within the last few years, so rapidly as to constitute a menace which should receive the attention of every thinking parent in America. Peddlers sell it at two cigarets for a quarter in the vicinity of schools. Apartments are run by ghoul-minded women; in such apartments high school students gather on the promise that reefer-smoking will 'put music in their souls' and release all moral restraint—nothing is said about eventual insanity. Practically every major school scandal in the last few years, and several killings in which young people have been involved, have been traced to this drug . . ."

Mansfield, like other cities, has from time to time had a "mad dog scare" and citizens have been much disturbed thereby. A mad dog—or a dozen of them—running at large in the city, would be far less of a menace to young people than the nefarious traffickers in marijuana who infest the city.

Nazi Terrorism In Vienna.

OCCASIONALLY a newspaper man finds himself wondering whether the evils attributed to Nazism under Adolf Hitler can be true. It doesn't seem possible, to people accustomed to relative freedom. Superficially there is an aura of success, power and even a certain glory in the progress of this strange party in control of Germany. Then comes a revelation like the dispatch printed in the New York Times telling of the Nazi terrorism in Vienna.

The old Austria and the old Vienna are no more, says the staff writer, who even with his journalistic immunity dare not publish his name. They ceased to exist overnight. Even institutions that made Vienna great are vanishing.

"The famous medical college is disintegrating; too many Jews helped establish its fame. All Jewish doctors would be suppressed, except for a shortage of medical help. The Vienna School of Music is breaking up. The Vienna cafe, that strange combination of cafe and literary club, is trying to make headway, but with empty chairs.

"The whole atmosphere of Austria and of Vienna is changed. A city of light and laughter has become a city of whispers and furtive glances over the shoulder."

But this blight is the mildest part of the story. Vienna is "just beginning to emerge from two months of organized, cold-blooded terrorism unprecedented in modern times. This is not to say that terrorism is over. It has merely been taken as far as possible out of public view.

"In prisons and S. A. barracks and commandeered quarters, well-bred men and women are still being compelled to scrub floors, wash dishes and clean the boots of storm troopers. Elderly professors and former commercial magnates are still forced to do 'physical jerks' until they fall from exhaustion. But it is all done within walls through which it cannot be seen."

And even this is mild, compared with the degradations and terrors told as the story proceeds—the executions, the suicides, the torture inflicted on thousands of people, women as well as men, for no crime or offense except a difference of political opinion, or coveted wealth and position, or a few drops of inherited "non-Aryan blood."

"I no longer try to prevent Jews from committing suicide," says a neutral diplomat, "because there is no hope for them." They carry poison in their pockets until the day comes when they reach the limit of endurance.

An Appreciative Citizen.

AN 81-year-old woman received her final citizenship papers in Pittsburgh the other day. She came to this country as an immigrant 46 years ago because she wanted to be an American. Somehow she failed to learn that women, as well as men, must take out citizenship papers if they wish to make the country their own.

When she learned, as an old woman, that she had not automatically become an American, she immediately set about taking the required steps toward that end.

What difference could it possibly make to such an elderly person whether she was legally a citizen? For more than 40 years she lived here happily and doubtless could continue to do so for her few remaining years.

She had a reason, however, which she told to the judge when she appeared in federal court for her final papers. "I want to die an American," she said. A native American must recognize in that simple statement much unspoken loyalty to the land of her choice and a genuine understanding of its ideals of freedom and opportunity.

It should be understood that domestic production of tung oil, which is now being encouraged, is not intended to facilitate soap box oratory.

According to a famous surgeon, a man can get along with only half a brain—but it's the smaller fractions that raise cain.

Insofar as aerial navigation is concerned, mountains still continue as the "immovable objects."

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

AGAIN the question is asked in New York, "Can Tammany survive?"

For James J. Hines, Tammany leader in Manhattan, indicted as the alleged chief behind-the-scenes' man in a $100,000,000 policy racket, has been a mainspring of Tammany.

Even if Hines is not convicted, the dramatic and lengthy indictment against him, detailing alleged workings of the policy racket, is enough to force his retirement and add another black mark against Tammany.

The indictment alleges almost unbelievable manipulations through control of law forces and judges, so that this leader and his gangster-cohorts, such as the late Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer, could rule the policy racket in New York in a virtual reign of terror. So powerful and so efficient was this combination of the underworld that no one dared to dispute its domination and millions flowed into its coffers, according to the allegations in the indictment.

Hines' attorney has charged that District Attorney Charles R. Dewey has succeeded finally after three years' effort to obtain an indictment against the Tammany leader only through the utmost pressure on the part of his staff, and that it is Dewey's bid for the governorship. It is true that it has taken Dewey three years to obtain an indictment of Hines. Everything possible was put into his path as a special prosecutor. But when, last November, he succeeded in defeating the Hines' supported district attorney, William C. Dodge, then Dewey overcame his greatest obstacle.

* * *

NOT ALL FOR HIM

Most of the Old Guard Tammany leaders have not relished Hines' power in the organization. He has been a little too rough even for Tammany.

If Hines should go, Alfred E. Smith again would have considerable to say. Or Surrogate James A. Foley.

But it is questionable whether either one of these men, who are not of the New Deal spirit, could revive Tammany.

The Tiger has been starved by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, who twice trounced it and of course has deprived it of jobs, sinecures and other sources of revenue, and, to insure its starvation, President Roosevelt has given it a minimum of federal patronage.

In congress, Tammany representatives under the leadership of Chairman John J. O'Connor of the powerful rules committee, have continued their efforts to hamstring the president. And in the upper house, Senator Royal S. Copeland has been unrelenting in his opposition to the New Deal.

* * *

NOT SO SILLY

Hines has termed the indictment as "silly," but that opinion is not shared by Tammany.

Following closely upon the forcing from office of City Clerk Albert Marinelli, downtown Tammany leader, this new scandal has opened the eyes of the public further than any anti-Tammany speeches.

There is a question as to whether Tammany ever can recover now. Even if it had not met its masters in La Guardia and Dewey—and Roosevelt (whom, however, it still snipes in Washington)—it would have begun to die of gangrene poisoning because of the corruption and downright terroristic rule it permitted.

Whether any judges remain who could be influenced by Tammany leaders such as Hines also is a question the public may desire to examine.

F. D. R. Scores In Latin America

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — When President Roosevelt leaves the White House, in 1941 or 1945 or whenever he does, he can point backward to one accomplishment that not even his bitterest critic can find fault with.

His administration is solidifying the Americas, North, South and Central, in admirable fashion.

Uncle Sam was not overly popular from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn at the time of "F. D.'s" first inauguration. President Hoover did, indeed, try hard to improve Pan American relations but he had rather too cool a personality to appeal to our southern neighbors. They were appreciative of his obviously kindly feeling toward them but they did not wax enthusiastic.

President Roosevelt's tone has exactly the right appeal to the Latin American temperament. Here some of us find a bit to sniff at in the mellifluousness of the "My Friends" with which he begins most of his talks to us. To the Latin American ear these words are the sweetest music. The Latin American simply loves that kind of stuff. He is a sentimental chap-hard-boiled in certain respects, but he dotes on sugary politeness.

* * *

IN THE PAST—

In the past years Uncle Samuel's attitude toward our southern neighbors has been more or less bullying. It has been protective, but intra-Americanly there has been a suggestion of "Papa spank if you children don't mind him."

The Latin Americas wanted protection but they resented the threat of spanking.

President Wilson was one of the worst spankers on record. He invaded Mexico, at Vera Cruz and across the border. He kept U. S. marines in Nicaragua and Haiti. He interfered in Cuban politics.

He did some other things that I think he ought not to have done.

I lived in South America then and know how we were hated.

* * *

ALL PASSED NOW

All that hostility has passed.

I know it from many associations in diplomatic circles in Washington and from still-surviving contacts in the southern republics.

Presidents Harding and Coolidge, following President Wilson, didn't improve matters much. They themselves were too ignorant of conditions south of Key West.

President Hoover, with excellent intentions, did not achieve anything in particular.

The trick has been turned by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull—in the right tone of voice and the right language.

* * *

A FLATTERING TRIP

Early in his term in the White House President Roosevelt took a trip down the South American east coast — to Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina. Of course the Brazilians, Uruguans and Argentines were immensely flattered. The west coast—Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Chili were slightly neglected.

Now, however, in July, he is to visit the west coast.

What I mean to say is, President Roosevelt is tactful.

* * *

ANOTHER GOOD STROKE?

And we are to "pull off" this year's Uncle Sam's naval maneuvers off the South American east coast—a warning to Germany and Italy to keep away from our continents.

That's precisely the assurance that Latin America seeks.

When the World war still was raging and the United States went in, President Wilson wanted to give an appearance of Pan-American solidarity to his program. To do so he sent a U. S. cruiser fleet to visit all Latin American ports—which were expected to welcome it. Argentina did not do so, preferring to remain neutral.

Therefore our squadron put into Buenos Aires and stayed two weeks, violating Argentine neutrality by force majure.

Argentina couldn't help it, but naturally it was angry.

* * *

IT'S AMERICAN

Latin America, in short, prefers to be American.

It is not European by preference.

If given a chance it would like to be a part of the United States.

There are qualifications, of course.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

In Debt to Prosper?

By ELIOT JONES.
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities, Stanford University.

The President's cure for the so-called recession, now recognized as a major depression, is pump-priming. He proposes to plunge the country even more deeply into debt, in the hope that we can "spend our way out of the depression."

Pump-priming is an old story with the administration. This policy was inaugurated soon after the President took office; and it was carried on with such enthusiasm and extravagance that in the brief space of five years the Federal Government spent more money than it had spent during the entire period from the founding of the nation in 1789 to our entry into the war in 1917. Despite the fact that the Federal Government in five years spent some thirty-five billion dollars—an almost incredible sum—business remained below normal three-fourths of the time, and at the close of the period suffered the most precipitate decline in the history of the country. Does this not furnish sufficient evidence that government spending is not the way to restore prosperity?

If there be any doubt on the point, ask yourself this question, during what period did the country build up its system of mass production, enabling living standards to be raised to heights heretofore regarded as quite unattainable? Was it during a period when the Government was attempting to spend its way into prosperity? Or was it during the period when the Government lived within its means, and gave encouragement to private enterprise and individual initiative? To ask the question is to answer it.

Pump-priming, therefore, is not the way out of our troubles. Pump-priming will either frighten away more private capital than the Government pours in, or it will lead to a temporary "inflationary" boom which will be followed by another depression, requiring more government pump-priming, and in the end financial disaster.

The remedy for our industrial illness lies in a reversal of government policies. Opinions will differ as to the details, but in general the program is clear. We should repeal the tax on undistributed net income—a tax that imposes heavy penalties on corporations that reinvest their profits in the business, and thus prevents them from expanding and giving employment to labor. We should amend the Wagner Act, which impairs confidence because of its one-sided character, and which is administered by a board conspicuous for its bias. We should impose some limit on government competition with the utilities, so that this industry, a large potential buyer of equipment, may be encouraged to expand. We should overhaul our wasteful relief system, and discontinue the use of government funds for the purpose of attracting votes and of rewarding and punishing Congressmen. And of especial importance, we should put financial affairs on a sound basis.

Such a program would make it unnecessary for the Government to prime the pump of industry, by hazarding the national credit in another gamble with artificially induced prosperity. But such a program can be carried out only through determined action by Congress, backed by an informed electorate, for it is, alas, now perfectly clear that no help along these lines can be expected from the Chief Executive.

Timely Editorial

Progressive Indians.

Those who facetiously talk about giving the country back to the Indians probably have in mind the roving, hunting, scalping Indians who didn't get a square deal from our revered ancestors. The notion we now can give back to the Indians the country of their forefathers, because we have got in such a mess with it we want to unload, doesn't do us much credit.

But the fact is, the Indians aren't what they used to be, and maybe they are proving quite worthy to share responsibilities with us. In Cattaraugus county, New York, this spring, 55 Indian school children set out 2,000 black ash seedlings on the common land of their reservation. They chose black ash because it is good for basket making.

The Indians made a big holiday of the event. The old chiefs and braves stood about watching the children with great interest. The youngsters, under a 4-H leader, worked earnestly with spuds and grub-hoes. The seedlings were developed in the nursery of New York State College of Agriculture. —Detroit News.

Who Should Serve as Jurors?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHOULD WE PICK OUR JURIES FROM THE RELIEF ROLLS . . .

GIVE JURY JOBS TO THE UNEMPLOYED WHO NEED THE MONEY, RATHER THAN TO BUSINESSMEN AND HOUSEWIVES?

Mrs. B. W. Sallach of Millvale, Pa., is asking. It's one of those challenging letters which are pouring in by the thousands these days. Never has America been so awakened to a realization of its problems . . . never before has it been discussing questions like the following over its evening corned beef and cabbage.

So now and then we'll pass an unusual Riot Raiser along for you to answer . . . then duck for the nearest bomb shelter!

"Dear Miss Robinson—

"With all our millions of unemployed, why do we have the juries in our court rooms composed of business men, housewives, etc? Doesn't it seem unfair to choose people who have good positions, when there are so many without jobs who would be tickled pink to earn a few dollars a day?

"They say American industry needs the common sense of good nursing. I say our courts need the same.

"Let the business man stick to his business, the housewife to her home—and give the unemployed a chance to earn their daily bread instead of having to 'sponge' it.

"Here's hoping for more 'unemployed' juries and less unemployment."

Mrs. B. W. Sallach,
Millvale, Pa.

Sounds sensible at first glance, doesn't it? But let's consider. Dispensing justice is the highest function in our land. Not only our possessions, but our very lives are at the mercy of juries. Plainly jury duty should mean more than sitting, in a chair and receiving a few dollars per day.

In practically all our states a juror must be of age, of good character, a citizen of the United States, an established resident of the city in which he is serving, and in possession of property to the sum of at least $250. In other words, jury duty SHOULD require intelligence, broadening experience, a record of industrious and honorable dealing and general efficiency. Would YOU care to put YOUR fate in the hands of anyone who is not so qualified?

But how many jurors would have these qualifications if picked from unemployment and relief rolls—even if we disregard the "personal property" clause? This is no sneer at the penniless and unemployed — amongst whom Ye Scribess, herself, has figured all too often. Many a jobless person may have abundant mental and moral resources. But we'll have to agree that, as a whole, the chronically idle and those on relief represent the less brainy and reliable members of society.

Also it might be well to face a certain fact of which all too many of us are ignorant . . . namely, the status of those who are eating and sleeping on the American taxpayers' roll. An enormous number of those receiving aid, in some places as high as 80 per cent of those enrolled, although living for years in this country, have never become American citizens and never intend to do so.

AMERICA HAS BECOME THE WORLD'S FLOP HOUSE, OVERRUN WITH STUPID, LAZY, IMPROVIDENT — AND, IN MANY CASES, VICIOUS — ALIENS WHOM THEIR OWN COUNTRIES WOULD NOT SUPPORT FOR A SECOND . . . AND WHOSE ONLY RECOGNITION OF OUR GENEROSITY IS TO BITE THE HAND AND ROB THE POCKET WHICH FEED THEM.

Do YOU wish to draw our jurors from such ranks?

Heaven knows that our Unemployment Problem needs solving and our Jury System needs a housecleaning.

But would we serve either end by measuring our jurors by the emptiness of their pockets rather than the abundance of their brains?

Now it's YOUR turn!

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

You Don't Need To "Understand."

ONE OF the cruelest things we do is to judge our fellows without understanding them.

We see a man whom we have known all our lives gets into terrible trouble, break his parents' hearts, ruin his own life, and we say: "How did he ever happen to do that? I didn't know he was that sort of fellow!" . . . And we judge him harshly because we do not understand why a man who seemed much like us should act so differently than we think WE would act in the same circumstances.

It has been said that to understand all is to forgive all, but I'm not sure that even understanding is necessary. After all, we have our own lives to live and understanding is frequently beyond us—when a man seems to be a criminal or a woman has made a sad fool of herself.

I think it would be good for us if, before we abuse people who do things "we wouldn't do," we could only remember two short paragraphs I copied years ago from a book on "The Human Mind" by a man named Karl Menninger. This is all he says—and it's plenty:

"When a trout rising to a fly gets hooked on a line and finds itself unable to swim about freely, it begins a fight which results in struggles and splashes and sometimes an escape. Often, of course, the situation is too tough for him.

"In the same way the human being struggles with his environment and with the hooks that catch him. Sometimes he masters his difficulties; sometimes they are too much for him. His struggles are all the world sees and it usually misunderstands them. It is hard for a free fish to understand what is happening to a hooked one."

Perhaps that last sentence is all we need. It is not necessary for us to be wholly "understanding" if we can remember occasionally that it is hard for a free fish to understand the struggles of a hooked one. We can be kind then without being wise, and we can mind our own business with less of a struggle if we realize that the fellow in trouble isn't "just naturally cussed" but may be just a poor fish who is caught on a hook and doesn't know how to get free.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the most colorful characters ever turned out by Greenwich Village has approached this correspondent with an unbelievable request. "Please," he asked us, "please do not mention my name in your column again, for a while at least."

Well, that's an unbelievable request in this town, where everybody is in a mad scramble for publicity. People in New York, especially if they are in the entertainment business, just don't make requests like that.

"Of course, Joe," I said (Joe isn't really his name), "if you say so, you'll get no mention here. But this astounds me. I don't want to pry into any secrets, but if it isn't getting too personal..."

He drew a deep breath. "Gee, thanks," he said with such evident satisfaction that I was more intrigued than ever. "You'll save me a lot of explaining. Remember that story you wrote about me several weeks ago? Well, a girl I used to know several years ago read it in a Pennsylvania newspaper. And she's been writing me letters every day. She wants to visit me when she comes to New York. She wants me to visit her out there. She's a nice kid, but well, she gets sort of goofy at times, and I don't like goofy women. She's written me five letters since that column came out."

* * *

AND that is what the trouble was. . . . An old romance, on her part at least. . . . One morning she picked up the paper . . . and read about an old flame. . . . And probably she remembered some idyllic summer in Manhattan . . . and she has been burning the mails with letters to Joe.

But Joe is now married and very happily so. It is his theory that by-gones should be by-gones, that the dead past should remain very, very dead. He wants no part of the glamorous Yesterdays (if they were glamorous) and, most of all, he wants no mention of his name in this column. For a while, anyway.

Okay, pal. . . . Far be it from us to thwart true love. . . . Say the word and we'll write another column about it's being all a mistake in the first place. . . . Anything you say.

Interesting in many ways are the new murals at the Jewish hospital in Brooklyn, done by Albert Cugat, whose brother is the famous maestro and caricaturist at the Waldorf-Astoria. Albert is the younger brother, a Spaniard who lives in 72nd street. Half his time is spent wandering old roads and sitting at stone tables in the arches of Spanish masonry in Old Spain. The other half is devoted to work here and painting, while seeing America. As for those new murals, they're on a theme which annually grows dearer to adolescent and adult hearts, namely, Mother Goose, Snow White, Alice in Wonderland, Pinocchio, Three Little Pigs, and, finally, Red Riding Hood. . . . They're worth a trip out there to see.

"MY BUSINESS IS GROWING TOBACCO"

Mr. B. F. Bivins—he knows where his best grades go

THE CAMEL PEOPLE BOUGHT THE BEST LOTS OF MY LAST CROP, AND PAID HIGH TO GET IT TOO. YOU BET I SMOKE CAMELS—I KNOW THE TOBACCO THEY'RE MADE OF. MOST OF US PLANTERS FEEL THE SAME WAY ABOUT CAMELS. SO, DOWN HERE IN THE HEART OF THE TOBACCO-GROWING COUNTRY, CAMELS ARE THE FAVORITE!

YOU can depend on this fact: That men who grow tobacco know the quality that goes into various cigarettes. When they choose a cigarette, you can be sure it's the cigarette that gives the best tobacco value for their money. HEARS STORY OF 'DOCTORED' RADIO RECORDS

House Committee Told FCC Yielded to 'Influence' of Lobby Forces.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A story of "doctored records" of the Federal communications commission and charges that commission members have "yielded too greatly to the influence of the lobby" he said chain broadcasting firms maintained here, was laid before the house rules committee today by FCC Commissioner George Henry Payne.

Payne made his statement as the committee considered proposals for a congressional investigation of alleged monopolistic practices by radio broadcasters, and into activities of the FCC itself

The committee refused to permit Payne to "name names" at today's hearing, but ordered him to re-appear on Tuesday for a closed session when he will be asked for names and details

Cites Example.

As an example of the FCC becoming "susceptible to outside pressure" from a radio lobby, Payne cited a case in which, he said, a lawyer "doctored the records of the commission in a case in which he (the lawyer) was interested," A reprimand, he added was the sole punishment meted out to the lawyer

Questioned persistently by members of the committee as to which of the commissioners he directed his charges against Payne said he did not believe the rules committee "the proper place to name them" He took a similar stand when asked to name the lobbyists exerting influence with the commission and in both instances he was sustained by Rep O'Connor (D., N. Y.), committee chairman

Payne appeared before the committee a few minutes after Frank R. McNinch, commission chairman, had expressed decided coolness to the proposed congressional investigation He pointed out that the commission itself is now engaged in an investigation of the entire broadcasting setup, including purported monopolistic practices, although he admitted that "you can hardly expect the commission to investigate itself"

Inquiry resolution now pending before the committee all call for an investigation of the commission as well as the broadcasting industry.

"This lobby is so persistent that you can't step outside your office door without stepping on three or four of them" Payne declared.

"Their lawyers are so arrogant that they now have the habit of commanding and demanding before the commission instead of making requests."

CZECH BORDER GUARD INTACT

Along this border the Czech government had fortified least of all, because it faced Austria, small, friendly and peaceful

Overnight it became Germany and the Czech general staff knew that one of its most difficult problems in the event of war would be to guard against possible German attack from Ratibor on the north and Nikolsburg on the south designed to pinch the long, narrow body of Czechoslovakia in two

In this city 160 000 lie within the focus of such a maneuver, and within easy shelling distance of the German frontier artillery

Czech authorities remembered the fate of Madrid and determined at the first shot to send all noncombatants to the interior

Their decision illuminates the Czechoslovak conception of the gravity of that moment.

Today considerable superficial but no fundamental changes have taken place in the military position. Local observers report that the Germany artillery has been withdrawn, probably to Vienna only about half an hour away from the frontier for motorized units

Correspondingly Czechoslovak troops have been placed in garrisons immediately behind the frontier, where they are able also to reach and man at full strength the most advanced positions now occupied by skeleton units

Also it confirmed that a certain number of individual Czech reservists, urgently needed for agricultural or other work at home have been released although no units have been withdrawn

Only to this extent has relaxation of the crisis become evident in spite of dauntless efforts of authorities to prove that peace has been nearly achieved

Diplomatically things are not much better. The government's official organ [illegible] emphasized that the nationalities or minorities act to bring about a reconciliation between Chancellor Hitler Konrad Henlein and the Germans and the Czechoslovak state will probably be ready by the end of summer

"Claims Foreign Born Ancestors Are Healthier"

Roots and Herbs That Grow In the Homeland Should Make For Less Constipation Over Here.

Describes World's Tonic In One Word—"Amazing."

Before telling you who made the above statements let's listen in on an imaginary conversation that could take place, and maybe has, right in your own parlor

Modern American Housewife "Since the baby came I don't seem to be able to get any housework done at all If it wasn't for mother being with me to help I don't know what I'd do '

Second Same "But you're a young woman with one child while your mother, who raised a big family is past sixty and seems livelier than you."

That brings in Mrs Monica Raff of 267 W South St Akron, Ohio who tells "I felt hopeless from years of pains and aches and always that tired feeling No memory and repeated dizzy spells that made a session over the ironing board a thing to be feared I may have imagined that the continual trouble from constipation was affecting my kidneys because I had to get up often during the night but I do know that I would have awful pains in the small of my back and always feel cranky and restless in the morning I envied my parents who were well along in years yet seemed a lot more active than I It was always my mother's claim that eating the things growing naturally in her native land the roots and herbs they often picked and the general conditions under which they lived and worked made them less liable to constipation Right or wrong my foreign born parents seemed in much better condition than I so that started me thinking

"I couldn't go back to my parent's homeland and start life over again Then by chance, I heard that the WORLD'S TONIC people reached into foreign countries for some of the things they put in their medicine The part about the roots and herbs compound had me curious I gave it a trial

That was a few short weeks ago Right away I was overjoyed at the speedy relief from my constipation then I stopped complaining about aches and pains I am sleeping well now and get up in the morning with a fresh and rested feeling Mother smiles at the way I tackle the ironing board Guess I'll have to agree with whoever it was that said Mother was right ' I could go on and on saying good things about WORLD'S TONIC but here's one word that tells the whole story AMAZING

WORLD'S TONIC contains roots barks herbs and leaves brought here from many different parts of the old world because although they may grow in the United States, many such ingredients lack the medicinal values and are entirely different in content action and result of those growing in old world climates Thus we find in WORLD'S TONIC medical values made by Nature before science yet taking their place with modern medical science

WORLD'S TONIC is for sale at Central Drug Store and all other modern Drug Stores.—Adv. (E 10)

THEATER

STRANGE how the character of Joan of Arc fascinates the glamor gals of Hollywood. Loretta Young is the latest set on playing the Maid of Orleans, and vows that her next contract must carry a provision to that effect. Claudette Colbert has begged for years for a chance at the role and other have asked for it. Perhaps producers are smart enough to see that none of these glamor exponents are suitable for the role. Critics contend that no actress who has Fifth avenue written all over her carefully waved hair and polished fingernails should attempt to play the little peasant of Normandy whose dreams led the armies of France to victory.

Three New Songs.

There are three tuneful new songs in "Rascals," the Jane Withers comedy at the Madison, not to mention the mouth organ symphonies that are played by Borrah Minevitch and his gang. Borrah plays one of the gypsies in this story of an heiress who stumbles into a gypsy camp after an auto accident. Miss Withers is a sort of small, dark Cupid in gypsy disguise. Of the three song hits, "Blue Is The Evening" is the most tuneful. The others are "Take A Tip From A Gypsy" and "Song of The Gypsy Band." Rochelle Hudson, film protege of the late Will Rogers, and whose career has been rather kicked around by 20th Century-Fox, is seen as the heiress, while Robert Wilcox has the romantic masculine lead.

Great Day for Irish.

It's a great day for the Irish when the O'Sullivans, the O'Keefes and the Rooneys get together in one film, all in starring roles, as they do in "Hold That Kiss," the Ohio theater attraction through Friday. Of them all however, only the O'Sullivan lass was born in Ireland. Maureen O'Sullivan, Dennis O'Keefe (late of Iowa) and Mickey Rooney who is all-American, are the major players in this M-G-M picture of a shop girl and a travel agency clerk who pretend to be millionaires. Young Rooney gets his first screen opportunity to show off his own band which is something of an institution around Hollywood, and his ability as a clarinet player.

Island Fight.

A sort of modernized version of the cowboys-and-Indians theme, with a Sgt. Quirt-Capt. Flagg situation thrown in for good measure of excitement, is found in "Air Devils," one of the two features opening at the Majestic tomorrow. Larry Blake and Dick Purcell are rival buddies in the U. S. constabulary controlling a South Sea island which is being cleaned up for a U. S. navy base. The natives plot to give the island over to the control of another nation and there's a pretty girl for whose favor both men fight. Another action feature is "Whirling Horseman," with Ken Maynard and his famous horse "Tarzan," both of whom have appeared in person in Mansfield.

Three Feature Program.

The program offered at the Ritz Friday and Saturday includes a new serial, a Western film and the Loretta Young-Don Ameche picture, "Love Under Fire." The new serial is "Tim Tyler's Luck," based on the popular cartoon strip hero of that name. The Western is Bob Steele in "Paroled To Die." The war in Spain provides the background for "Love Under Fire," in which an English girl is trapped in Spain by a Scotland Yard man, and both fight to escape the common danger provided by the war. Borrah Minevitch and his gang of harmonica players are in this film also, and supporting players are Frances Drake and Walter Catlett.

MILLERSBURG— Marriage licenses issued recently in Probate Judge F. W. Fankhauser's court were to Abram Mast, 22, Holmes county farmer, and Mary Oswald, 22, also of Holmes county; C. E. Klingler, 38, Millersburg plumber, and Pearl Schopfer, 41, Glenmont, teacher.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITAIN TO SEE FAMOUS SHIPS U. S. SENT IN '18

U. S. S. New York, Texas, and Wyoming to Make Summer Cruise to Europe.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—An invitation to "come back soon," extended to the U. S. battle force by the late Admiral Sir David Beatty at the close of the World war, will be met this summer, when 1,100 midshipmen from the Naval Academy visit England on their annual practice cruise.

Three famous old battleships of the American force which rendered such valuable assistance to the British navy in bottling up the German High Seas Fleet during the war will bring the "middies" to British waters, 20 years after Admiral Beatty extended his invitation.

The three ships are the U.S.S. New York, Texas and Wyoming. These vessels, together with the Arkansas, Florida and Delaware, made up the 6th Battle Squadron The squadron was incorporated into the British Grand Fleet, resulting in the "greatest aggregation of naval power" the world had ever seen.

First United Cruise.

The vessels have been used for summer cruises to Europe before, but it is said this will be the first time three ships of the famous 6th squadron will make the visit together.

The midshipmen will embark at Annapolis, Md., on June 3, and after visiting Le Havre France, and Copenhagen, Denmark, will arrive at Portsmouth, England, on July 15 for an eight-day stay before returning to the United States.

The practice squadron will be accompanied by Rear Admiral Alfred W. Johnson, commander of the training detachment of the U. S. fleet Admiral Johnson has a distinguished World war record, and received the Order of St. Michael and St. George from the British government and the Distinguished Service Medal from his own government for his work as commander of the destroyer U. S. S. Conyingham. The vessel was engaged in patroling the submarine zone and in escorting troops and supplies.

In making the visit, the U.S.S. New York will reenact a dramatic episode of the World war naval history. It was this renowned vessel which, as flagship of the U. S. overseas naval forces, proudly led the American squadron into English waters to join the awaiting British fleet.

Historic Scene Recalled.

As the American ships came into sight through the English mist, a great cheer went up from the English sailors. A British band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Americans replied with "God Save the King."

The U. S. squadron was commanded by Admiral Hugh Redman aboard the New York. Admiral Beatty greeted his allies from across the Atlantic from the deck of his flagship, the Queen Elizabeth

HIT NEW LOWS

Iron, Steel, Auto Industries Touch Bottom in May.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The Federal Reserve Bank reported in its monthly business review today that new lows "for the latest downward movement, which began last fall,' were touched during April and May in such lines as iron and steel, automobile parts, tires, retail and wholesale trade.

"In contrast with last year" the Review said, "industrial areas showed declines in manufacturing employment ranging between 20 per cent at Cincinnati and 11 per cent at Toledo In May, further curtailment was reported at several of the larger plants chiefly in the auto parts, tire machine tool and steel industries."

Department store sales for the first four months of the year were 12 per cent under last year the bank's statement said

Jail's 'Lonesome' Place, Population Lowest In 3 Years

It was lonesome around the Richland county jail today, but Sheriff E. P Long said he had no objections if it stays that way

With the jail population at seven, the lowest mark in at least three years, the county's expense for jail maintenance is at a minimum and housekeeping chores for the jail staff have dropped correspondingly.

While they held little hope of the jail ever being without a prisoner deputy sheriffs said the county prison population may even drop to a lower figure in a few days Two of the present inmates are awaiting trial and another will be taken to a hospital for mental patients at Marion Ind., within the next week

Two of the prisoners make it almost certain that the deputies will have someone to watch during the rest of the year One is serving out a $400 fine for illegal possession and sale of liquor and is not due to leave the jail until next Jan. 16 unless he pays the balance.

Another prisoner will not have his fine served out until Nov. 4 He is in jail on a liquor conviction and has been there since last Nov 30.

In Britain, 68.3 out of every 100 families had a license to use a radio at the end of 1937.

25 SENIOR HIGH GIRLS GIVEN AWARDS FOR ATHLETIC PROWESS

Twenty-five members of the Girls Athletic association at Senior high school were presented with athletic awards, and officers for next year were elected at the final meeting of the association for the year Wednesday afternoon.

The G. A. A. numerals were given to eight girls, emblems were given to ten, and pins were awarded to six others.

The new officers are Mary Black, president; Mary Bair, vice president; Theresa Hallabrin, secretary, and Katherine Kaser, treasurer. Miss Black succeeds Helen Sturgeon as president.

Numerals for earning 300 points in athletic games were given to Ruth Huck, Thelma Kennedy, Ruth Vrbnac, Virginia Rupp, Mary Nanich, Betty Edwards, Mary Swartzkopf, and Kay Steil. Emblems for earning 1,000 points in athletic competition went to Jane Berkley, Esther Geottle, Martha Spetka, Marjorie Mahon, Louise Sauder, Nancy Bushnell, Mary Maxwell, Mildred Miller, Margaret Oswalt, Betty Greene, and Dorothy Blackstone.

The G. A. A. pin, the highest athletic award, given to girls who earn 1,500 points or more was awarded to Donna Etzwiler, Louise Johnson, Maxine Zediker Martha Giffin and Deloros Lee.

During the meeting four new members were taken into the association, and results of the intramural kittenball tournament which just closed, was announced by Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, girl's physical education instructor.

The new members are Janeth Merrill, Clara Smith, Jean Bone and Peggy Brannon. Results of the kittenball tournament are the 10-A and 11-B classes tied for first place. 12-A class second, 11-A and 10-B classes tied for third, and the 12-B class fourth. Mary Black was manager of the tournament, and 168 girls took part.

Following the meeting a picnic for all association members was held in Middle park. Arrangements were in charge of Ruby Rowe.

ANSWERS OHIO RELIEF CRITICS

Farm Bureau Says Industrial Areas Must Bear Their Share.

COLUMBUS—(ANS)— Answering criticism of the attitude of rural Ohio on the problem of relief the Ohio Farm bureau has advised the legislature that "rural Ohio is willing to bear its fair share of the necessary relief load, but not until urban and industrial sections have assumed their like responsibility and exerted every possible effort to solve their problems locally.

"Chiselers and others abusing the relief privilege" must be removed from relief rolls in industrial centers, declared John M. Hodson, chairman of the Farm Bureau legislative committee.

He insisted that state aid should be distributed on the basis of need rather than on the basis of past or current expenditures

Lawmakers Strive to Break Deadlock on Ohio Relief

WEIGH PLANS FOR 'STOP GAP' APPROPRIATION

Assembly Conferees Meeting Today in Move to Iron Out Bitter Controversy.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Faced by a threatened deadlock that might delay enactment of a poor relief program for several more weeks, legislative leaders gathered around the conference table today to iron out difficulties and eliminate confusion.

Meeting with them in the office of Speaker Frank Uible of the house were representatives of Gov. Martin L. Davey, cities, counties and business, industrial and agricultural organizations.

The machinery of the legislature, now in the third week of a special session called to cope with a poor relief crisis in large urban centers, was almost at a complete standstill.

Returned to Committee.

Several relief bills which had been recommended for passage were returned to committee for revision and to await a crystalization of sentiment on just what form the relief program should take.

Legislative groups were so badly divided and the possibility of prolonged delay so great that some legislators seriously discussed rushing through a temporary appropriation which would care for immediate needs while a program for the remainder of the year was being completed.

In this respect Speaker Uible gave his attention to a bill which would appropriate $2,000,000 for lending by the state control board on a basis of need.

The big question was where to find the $2,000,000. State Finance Director M. Ray Allison said the money was not available in the general revenue fund. Uible received suggestions for reaching into the highway department or liquor revenue funds.

The conference in the speaker's office was a continuation of a session begun last night and attended by approximately 40 persons.

Uible asked for estimates on how much money would be needed for the remainder of the year, how it should be raised and how it should be distributed.

Earl E. Hagerman, president of the Ohio League of Municipalities, stood by his estimate of $17,000,000. The house investigating committee estimated the need at $13,000,000.

Rep. Kenneth M. Petri (D., Crawford) suggested the legislature appropriate $13,000,000, and remarked that if it proved inadequate the assembly could provide more later in the year.

Dog Given Glass Eye For His Long Years of Service

ESTACADA, Ore.—(INS)—Years of hard work brought their reward to Rover in the form of a shiny new glass eye.

Rover, a female shepherd dog, despite the name, worked faithfully for years rounding up the cows at night for her owner, J. W. Saunders. Neither bad weather nor illness kept her from her duties until she stuck her head into a nest of newly-born kittens, and the mother cat scratched out one of Rover's eyes.

Because of her years of labor, Rover was rushed to a veterinary instead of being shot. She grew well again in a short while, and returned home with a shiny new glass eye.

HE'LL SING IN WALK TO CHAIR

Kentuckian To Be Hanged In Attack Case Tonight.

COVINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Harold Van Vension, colored, one-time singer of spirituals, was prepared to walk to the gallows at dawn tomorrow with a song on his lips.

"I'm ready to go. I've made my peace with the Lord and will walk up those steps with a song on my lips," he said as the time neared for his execution for criminal attack on a white woman.

The hanging will be the last under the Kentucky law. The general assembly this year repealed legislation which required persons convicted of criminal assault to be hanged in the county where the offense occurred. Death in the electric chair is provided by the new statute.

ROAD REPORT DUE IN MONTH

$50-a-Day Professors Named by Davey, to Submit 500-Page Highway Volume.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Chairman Clyde T. Morris sai dtoday that his special college professor board of inquiry would submit to Gov. Martin L. Davey by July 1 a report on its seven-month investigation of the state highway department.

Professor Morris declined to indicate what statements or recommendations the report would contain. He said an original copy of the board's findings would be presented and that 500 copies would be printed and bound for distribution later. The survey will fill a 500-page volume, he said.

Salaries of $50 a day and expenses have been allocated for board members, who have met at least once a week since last October.

Meanwhile Sen. Ralph Seidner (D., Mahoning) introduced a resolution in the Ohio senate, asking that the governor make public as soon as possible a report of the professors' findings.

"We want the public to know what the governor's investigating board has done with the money they've spent," said Seidner, chairman of the recent senate graft hunting committee.

Action on the resolution was deferred in accordance with senate rules.

10-DAY CAMPAIGN PLANNED TO RAISE JULY 4 FIREWORKS FUND

A campaign for funds to "underwrite" their Fourth of July celebration planned for the entire community will be conducted between June 9 and June 18 by the Mansfield public parks association, R W Vaughn, president, announced today.

The association is composed of representatives of the city's four park associations—Prospect, Liberty, North lake, South park and John's park.

Opening next Thursday morning, the campaign will be waged by approximately 100 parks association members to obtain approximately $1,500 to meet the expenses of the July 4th program. Each association will put 10 two-man teams into the solicitation.

Huge fireworks displays which will surpass last year's celebration have already been purchased by the centralized association. A continuous program from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. will include band concerts, field events and harness racing.

The Westinghouse band under the direction of R. O. Richards and a show of talent with J. Gilbert Baird as master of ceremonies will be presented during the first part of the evening. The fireworks display is scheduled for 9 p. m.

Soliciting teams under the direction of Walter Underwood will take the field Thursday and will seek subscriptions from industry, banks; utilities and businessmen.

Vaughn said he hoped that subscriptions obtained from that group would be sufficient to meet the expense of the celebration so that a canvass of the residential district would not be necessary.

Wife Calls Missing Carnegie Heir a Deserter.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Missing since April 15 when he left Roosevelt field in his monoplane for a short flight, Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, nephew of the late financier, was labeled a wife deserter by his bride of less than a year —but she had a particular purpose.

"I don't know whether my husband is alive or dead," she reported through her father, Dr. Robert H. Halsey, "and I am taking this step to find out. I have been advised by my attorneys that publication in newspapers of notice that I am taking this action, will be so widespread that if he is alive he should not fail to see it."

The action she referred to was a suit for separation filed in supreme court on grounds of abandonment and which also asks for appointment of a receiver for Whitfield's properties.

RUSSIA GIVES O. K. ON POINT UNDER DISPUTE

Soviet Withdraws Objections to Plan for Evacuating Foreign Volunteers.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Great Britain won the first important move in efforts to arrange an armistice in the Spanish civil war today when Soviet Russia withdrew objections to the British plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers.

The Soviet, which had been holding up the plan, agreed to accept the method of counting volunteers, a division of the volunteers into four main categories and the restoration of land and sea control of the Spanish frontier.

Russia's acceptance of the non-intervention committee plan was announced after it was learned that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intended to go beyond the scope of the committee's work because he was not satisfied with its relatively negative efforts.

Call on France, Italy.

It was understood that the government might seek the collaboration of France and possibly Italy also to sound out the Spanish nationalists and loyalists on their attitude toward an armistice.

The idea would be to bring representatives of the Spanish belligerents to a round table of negotiation at which a definitive settlement of the civil war might be concluded.

The Czechoslovak problem, now even more acute than the civil war, is the second big point in the government's foreign policy.

Chamberlain and his cabinet colleagues have determined to pursue their attempts to negotiate a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the minority problem.

Upon the success of this attempt hinged the possibility of eventual negotiations with Germany which would be pointed toward an air force limitation pact, a general arms limitation agreement and a possible settlement of the German demands for colonies and other political questions.

Townsend Says Followers Will Campaign in Ohio.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Dr Francis E. Townsend, leader of the revolving old age pension plan, was on record today with the promise that the Townsend forces will again campaign actively in the Ohio congressional contests this year.

In an interview with newspapermen following addresses to the house of representatives and the senate taxation and relief committee, Dr. Townsend said the organization would endorse candidates favorable to the pension plan.

The 71-year-old physician was given a tumultuous ovation by an estimated 800 enthusiastic supporters when he addressed the senate committee.

He spoke in support of a resolution asking congress to submit for ratification a proposed constitutional amendment embodying essentials of his plan.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Lot of Hague's Critics Are Phonies Who Would Copy Him If They Could

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Years ago they told me the story of a stranger in town who asked an Irish cop the quickest way to the nearest hospital and was told to stick his head into Hogan's saloon across the way and holler, "down with the Pope!"

I have cleaned it up a little, but this version will suffice to make the point that Frank Hague is very popular in Jersey City and that anyone who ventures to call him hard names on his own home grounds assumes certain risks.

The risks are about the same that a Hague man would face in hollering, "to hell with John L. Lewis!" at a meeting of the CIO, but much lass grave than any dissenter would court in yelling from a soap box in Moscow that Josef Stalin was a man so foul that to mention his name was to poison the tongue. This is the phrase which representative Jerry O'Connell, of Montana, was going to use in the speech which he didn't deliver in Jersey City the time he forgot to show up.

* * *

Among those who are clamoring for their constitutional rights to denounce Hague to his own crowd are some avowed Communists who advocate the adoption here of government by firing squad and many more who haven't the honesty to take membership in the communist party but hew to the party line disguised as Democrats. New Dealers are progressives.

They include men who like to get up and shake sweat over the first ten rows at union meetings as they holler against every proposal which appears to contain a possibility of industrial peace and fair employment and chuckle when some poor, tongue-tied rank-and-filer in the corner is howled down for trying to say that he likes his job, doesn't want to strike and advocates a settlement. They come not into court with clean hands, and they hate Hague only for doing to them as they have often done to others and would do on a larger scale if they had the same power.

* * *

Hague is one of those heavy handed American local politicians who learned government in wards and precincts and not from books, and he is disadvantaged when he tries to meet glib and slippery revolutionary intellectuals in debate.

Nevertheless, there is truth in his clumsy statements that the "invaders," as he calls them, are led by communists and reds of various hues who have fought and whose policy is always to fight against any proposal which might permit a peaceful solution of any labor dispute and prevent a strike. Hague knows his communists and the fakes who want to enjoy the game without accepting the name, and he knows that strikes and fights around factory gates are scored as hits in their book while peaceful settlements are put down as errors.

There are many cities in the United States in which it is unsafe to rise up on the principal street and express certain sentiments. It would be unwise to say in Atlanta that Sherman ought to come that way again or in Tulsa that it is time Oklahoma had a negro governor. On the basis of election returns, which give Hague a local mandate comparable to President Roosevelt's, the sentiment of Jersey City is such that denunciation of the mayor could give violent offense to many impulsive citizens.

* * *

Huey Long was a much worse dictator than Hague is and should have been even more hateful to members of the Save-Jersey movement, but somehow wasn't at all objectionable to them even at his worst. Yet, any crusader for the right to speak freely would deem it imprudent to rise up at his grave in Baton Rouge and denounce him. That right is just waived.

Moreover, as to the purity of the purpose of this movement there comes to mind the conduct of the late Ku Klux Klan. This organization certainly inhibited speech in many of the centers which it held, but when the most illustrious of the late Klansmen was elevated to the United States supreme court he was acclaimed and defended by many of those who now denounce Hague.

But Hague, according to the bill against him, has exactly the same character as Hugo Black and would seem to deserve their indorsement rather than censure.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A boy and a girl were riding in a big creaking wagon, a dustless dirt road behind them, riding right into the camera. Prop men jiggled the wagon dutifully to produce the needed squeaks, and the road retreated on a screen behind them while the camera turned in front.

For the girl, Anne Shirley, it must have been a good omen, this ride. It was on a similar trip only in a buggy, that red-haired Anne chattered her way into a good many fan hearts as "Anne of Green Gables."

For the boy, James Ellison, it was just a different kind of ride—but fraught with possibilities too. His role in "Mother Carey's Chickens" is his fourth away from the westerns, and it's his second wherein, romantically speaking, he is the whole masculine works.

* * *

Most of Jimmy Ellison's riding previously has been in hoss operas. Then with scarcely any warning, they plunked him into a stiff shirt and tails for "Vivacious Lady."

"That was the tough part," says Jimmy. "Trying to be sophisticated and subtle—after playing in westerns where we always mean exactly what we say and where we really act when we act."

If Jimmy makes the grade as a character leading man he'll be fulfilling an ambition he's had a long time, since acting in Hollywood high school plays. At 28 he has had nearly ten years of trying.

Fresh from high school, he got a job days in the Warner laboratories, acted nights at the Pasadena Community playhouse. One night a Warner scout spotted him, arranged a test, and Jimmy became the first would-be actor on record who developed and saw his own test before anyone else.

* * *

"I just thought if I worked with it myself I might be able to make it look a little better," he recalls, "but I might as well have saved the trouble. I didn't get the contract. Got one later, however, at M-G-M, where I didn't do anything. I took a trip to see my brother in Honolulu, thinking I'd get a job there, but he advised me to come back. And I did, and things have worked out luckily.

"But if anything goes wrong with this new business of mine, I'll be perfectly happy to get back to the westerns. I'd like to have my own western series, some day."

He's been married a year (for the benefit of those girls who'll be writing in after "Vivacious Lady") to Gertrude Durkin.

ANSWERS OHIO RELIEF CRITICS

Farm Bureau Says Industrial Areas Must Bear Their Share.

COLUMBUS—(INS)— Answering criticism of the attitude of rural Ohio on the problem of relief the Ohio Farm bureau has advised the legislature that "rural Ohio is willing to bear its fair share of the necessary relief load, but not until urban and industrial sections have assumed their like responsibility and exerted every possible effort to solve their problems locally.

"Chiselers and others abusing the relief privilege" must be removed from relief rolls in industrial centers, declared John M. Hodson, chairman of the Farm Bureau legislative committee.

He insisted that state aid should be distributed on the basis of need rather than on the basis of past or current expenditures

Lawmakers Strive to Break Deadlock on Ohio Relief

WEIGH PLANS FOR 'STOP GAP' APPROPRIATION

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Faced by a threatened deadlock that might delay enactment of a poor relief program for several more weeks, legislative leaders gathered around the conference table today to iron out difficulties and eliminate confusion.

Meeting with them in the office of Speaker Frank Uible of the house were representatives of Gov. Martin L. Davey, cities, counties and business, industrial and agricultural organizations.

The machinery of the legislature, now in the third week of a special session called to cope with a poor relief crisis in large urban centers, was almost at a complete standstill.

Returned to Committee.

Several relief bills which had been recommended for passage were returned to committee for revision and to await a crystalization of sentiment on just what form the relief program should take.

Legislative groups were so badly divided and the possibility of prolonged delay so great that some legislators seriously discussed rushing through a temporary appropriation which would care for immediate needs while a program for the remainder of the year was being completed.

In this respect Speaker Uible gave his attention to a bill which would appropriate $2,000,000 for lending by the state control board on a basis of need.

The big question was where to find the $2,000,000. State Finance Director M. Ray Allison said the money was not available in the general revenue fund. Uible received suggestions for reaching into the highway department or liquor revenue funds.

The conference in the speaker's office was a continuation of a session begun last night and attended by approximately 40 persons.

Uible asked for estimates on how much money would be needed for the remainder of the year, how it should be raised and how it should be distributed.

Earl E. Hagerman, president of the Ohio League of Municipalities, stood by his estimate of $17,000,000. The house investigating committee estimated the need at $13,000,000.

Rep Kenneth M. Petri (D., Crawford) suggested the legislature appropriate $13,000,000, and remarked that if it proved inadequate the assembly could provide more later in the year.

Heist has signed a written confession

Dog Given Glass Eye For His Long Years of Service

ESTACADA, Ore.—(INS)—Years of hard work brought their reward to Rover in the form of a shiny new glass eye.

Rover, a female shepherd dog, despite the name, worked faithfully for years rounding up the cows at night for her owner, J. W. Saunders. Neither bad weather nor illness kept her from her duties until she stuck her head into a nest of newly-born kittens, and the mother cat scratched out one of Rover's eyes.

Because of her years of labor, Rover was rushed to a veterinary instead of being shot. She grew well again in a short while, and returned home with a shiny new glass eye.

HE'LL SING IN WALK TO CHAIR

Kentuckian To Be Hanged In Attack Case Tonight.

COVINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Harold Van Vension, colored, one-time singer of spirituals, was prepared to walk to the gallows at dawn tomorrow with a song on his lips.

"I'm ready to go. I've made my peace with the Lord and will walk up those steps with a song on my lips," he said as the time neared for his execution for criminal attack on a white woman.

The hanging will be the last under the Kentucky law. The general assembly this year repealed legislation which required persons convicted of criminal assault to be hanged in the county where the offense occurred. Death in the electric chair is provided by the new statute.

ROAD REPORT DUE IN MONTH

$50-a-Day Professors Named by Davey, to Submit 500-Page Highway Volume.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Chairman Clyde T. Morris sai dtoday that his special college professor board of inquiry would submit to Gov. Martin L. Davey by July 1 a report on its seven-month investigation of the state highway department.

Professor Morris declined to indicate what statements or recommendations the report would contain. He said an original copy of the board's findings would be presented and that 500 copies would be printed and bound for distribution later. The survey will fill a 500-page volume, he said.

Salaries of $50 a day and expenses have been allocated for board members, who have met at least once a week since last October.

Meanwhile Sen. Ralph Seidner (D., Mahoning) introduced a resolution in the Ohio senate, asking that the governor make public as soon as possible a report of the professors' findings.

"We want the public to know what the governor's investigating board has done with the money they've spent," said Seidner, chairman of the recent senate graft hunting committee.

Action on the resolution was deferred in accordance with senate rules.

10-DAY CAMPAIGN PLANNED TO RAISE JULY 4 FIREWORKS FUND

A campaign for funds to "underwrite" their Fourth of July celebration planned for the entire community will be conducted between June 9 and June 18 by the Mansfield public parks association, R. W Vaughn, president, announced today.

The association is composed of representatives of the city's four park associations—Prospect, Liberty, North lake, South park and John's park.

Opening next Thursday morning, the campaign will be waged by approximately 100 parks association members to obtain approximately $1,500 to meet the expenses of the July 4th program. Each association will put 10 two-man teams into the solicitation.

Huge fireworks displays which will surpass last year's celebration have already been purchased by the centralized association. A continuous program from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. will include band concerts, field events and harness racing.

The Westinghouse band under the direction of R. O. Richards and a show of talent with J. Gilbert Baird as master of ceremonies will be presented during the first part of the evening. The fireworks display is scheduled for 9 p. m.

Soliciting teams under the direction of Walter Underwood will take the field Thursday and will seek subscriptions from industry, banks, utilities and businessmen.

Vaughn said he hoped that subscriptions obtained from that group would be sufficient to meet the expense of the celebration so that a canvass of the residential district would not be necessary.

SUES WHITFIELD

Wife Calls Missing Carnegie Heir a Deserter.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Missing since April 15 when he left Roosevelt field in his monoplane for a short flight, Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, nephew of the late financier, was labeled a wife deserter by his bride of less than a year —but she had a particular purpose.

"I don't know whether my husband is alive or dead," she reported through her father, Dr. Robert H. Halsey, "and I am taking this step to find out. I have been advised by my attorneys that publication in newspapers of notice that I am taking this action, will be so widespread that if he is alive he should not fail to see it."

The action she referred to was a suit for separation filed in supreme court on grounds of abandonment and which also asks for appointment of a receiver for Whitfield's properties.

Secretary Roper will issue a statement, probably in two weeks, of the board's findings.

RUSSIA GIVES O. K. ON POINT UNDER DISPUTE

Soviet Withdraws Objections to Plan for Evacuating Foreign Volunteers.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Great Britain won the first important move in efforts to arrange an armistice in the Spanish civil war today when Soviet Russia withdrew objections to the British plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers.

The Soviet, which had been holding up the plan, agreed to accept the method of counting volunteers, a division of the volunteers into four main categories and the restoration of land and sea control of the Spanish frontier.

Russia's acceptance of the non-intervention committee plan was announced after it was learned that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intended to go beyond the scope of the committee's work because he was not satisfied with its relatively negative efforts.

Call on France, Italy.

It was understood that the government might seek the collaboration of France and possibly Italy also to sound out the Spanish nationalists and loyalists on their attitude toward an armistice.

The idea would be to bring representatives of the Spanish belligerents to a round table of negotiation at which a definitive settlement of the civil war might be concluded.

The Czechoslovak problem, now even more acute than the civil war, is the second big point in the government's foreign policy.

Chamberlain and his cabinet colleagues have determined to pursue their attempts to negotiate a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the minority problem.

Upon the success of this attempt hinged the possibility of eventual negotiations with Germany which would be pointed toward an air force limitation pact, a general arms limitation agreement and a possible settlement of the German demands for colonies and other political questions.

Townsend Says Followers Will Campaign in Ohio.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Dr Francis E. Townsend, leader of the revolving old age pension plan, was on record today with the promise that the Townsend forces will again campaign actively in the Ohio congressional contests this year.

In an interview with newspapermen following addresses to the house of representatives and the senate taxation and relief committee, Dr. Townsend said the organization would endorse candidates favorable to the pension plan.

The 71-year-old physician was given a tumultuous ovation by an estimated 800 enthusiastic supporters when he addressed the senate committee.

He spoke in support of a resolution asking congress to submit for ratification a proposed constitutional amendment embodying essentials of his plan.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Lot of Hague's Critics Are Phonies Who Would Copy Him If They Could

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Years ago they told me the story of a stranger in town who asked an Irish cop the quickest way to the nearest hospital and was told to stick his head into Hogan's saloon across the way and holler, "down with the Pope!"

I have cleaned it up a little, but this version will suffice to make the point that Frank Hague is very popular in Jersey City and that anyone who ventures to call him hard names on his own home grounds assumes certain risks.

The risks are about the same that a Hague man would face in hollering, "to hell with John L. Lewis!" at a meeting of the CIO, but much lass grave than any dissenter would court in yelling from a soap box in Moscow that Josef Stalin was a man so foul that to mention his name was to poison the tongue. This is the phrase which representative Jerry O'Connell, of Montana, was going to use in the speech which he didn't deliver in Jersey City the time he forgot to show up.

* * *

Among those who are clamoring for their constitutional rights to denounce Hague to his own crowd are some avowed Communists who advocate the adoption here of government by firing squad and many more who haven't the honesty to take membership in the communist party but hew to the party line disguised as Democrats. New Dealers are progressives.

They include men who like to get up and shake sweat over the first ten rows at union meetings as they holler against every proposal which appears to contain a possibility of industrial peace and fair employment and chuckle when some poor, tongue-tied rank-and-filer in the corner is howled down for trying to say that he likes his job, doesn't want to strike and advocates a settlement. They come not into court with clean hands, and they hate Hague only for doing to them as they have often done to others and would do on a larger scale if they had the same power.

* * *

Hague is one of those heavy handed American local politicians who learned government in wards and precincts and not from books, and he is disadvantaged when he tries to meet glib and slippery revolutionary intellectuals in debate.

Nevertheless, there is truth in his clumsy statements that the "invaders," as he calls them, are led by communists and reds of various hues who have fought and whose policy is always to fight against any proposal which might permit a peaceful solution of any labor dispute and prevent a strike. Hague knows his communists and the fakes who want to enjoy the game without accepting the name, and he knows that strikes and fights around factory gates are scored as hits in their book while peaceful settlements are put down as errors.

There are many cities in the United States in which it is unsafe to rise up on the principal street and express certain sentiments. It would be unwise to say in Atlanta that Sherman ought to come that way again or in Tulsa that it is time Oklahoma had a negro governor. On the basis of election returns, which give Hague a local mandate comparable to President Roosevelt's, the sentiment of Jersey City is such that denunciation of the mayor could give violent offense to many impulsive citizens.

* * *

Huey Long was a much worse dictator than Hague is and should have been even more hateful to members of the Save-Jersey movement, but somehow wasn't at all objectionable to them even at his worst. Yet any crusader for the right to speak freely would deem it imprudent to rise up at his grave in Baton Rouge and denounce him. That right is just waived.

Moreover, as to the purity of the purpose of this movement there comes to mind the conduct of the late Ku Klux Klan. This organization certainly inhibited speech in many of the centers which it held, but when the most illustrious of the late Klansmen was elevated to the United States supreme court he was acclaimed and defended by many of those who now denounce Hague.

But Hague, according to the bill against him, has exactly the same character as Hugo Black and would seem to deserve their indorsement rather than censure.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A boy and a girl were riding in a big creaking wagon, a dustless dirt road behind them, riding right into the camera. Prop men jiggled the wagon dutifully to produce the needed squeaks, and the road retreated on a screen behind them while the camera turned in front.

For the girl, Anne Shirley, it must have been a good omen, this ride. It was on a similar trip only in a buggy, that red-haired Anne chattered her way into a good many fan hearts as "Anne of Green Gables."

For the boy, James Ellison, it was just a different kind of ride—but fraught with possibilities too. His role in "Mother Carey's Chickens" is his fourth away from the westerns and it's his second wherein, romantically speaking, he is the whole masculine works.

* * *

Most of Jimmy Ellison's riding previously has been in hoss operas. Then with scarcely any warning, they plunked him into a stiff shirt and tails for "Vivacious Lady."

"That was the tough part," says Jimmy. "Trying to be sophisticated and subtle after playing in westerns where we always mean exactly what we say and where we really act when we act.

If Jimmy makes the grade as a character leading man he'll be fulfilling an ambition he's had a long time, since acting in Hollywood high school plays. At 28, he has had nearly ten years of trying.

Fresh from high school, he got a job days in the Warner laboratories, acted nights at the Pasadena Community playhouse. One night a Warner scout spotted him, arranged a test, and Jimmy became the first would-be actor on record who developed and saw his own test before anyone else.

* * *

"I just thought if I worked with it myself I might be able to make it look a little better," he recalls, "but I might as well have saved the trouble. I didn't get the contract. Got one later, however, at M-G-M, where I didn't do anything. I took a trip to see my brother in Honolulu, thinking I'd get a job there, but he advised me to come back. And I did, and things have worked out luckily.

"But if anything goes wrong with this new business of mine, I'll be perfectly happy to get back to the westerns. I'd like to have my own western series, some day."

He's been married a year (for the benefit of those girls who'll be writing in after "Vivacious Lady") to Gertrude Durkin.

AIR FLASH BOMB KILLS FARMER

Explosive Dropped Into Potato Patch Fatal To Ohioan.

XENIA, O —(INS)— Burns and injuries he received while examining an army flash bomb dropped into his potato patch by fliers from Wright field at Dayton proved fatal today to Joseph A. Glaser, 63, a farmer of near Osborn.

Glaser accidentally pulled the fuse while inspecting the bomb and it exploded in his hands. The blast frightened a team of horses hitched to a potato planter and they bolted, dragging Glaser sever feet and injuring his spine.

Officials of Wright field had warned residents of the vicinity against touching bombs that were found.

Lived At Parents, Want Home

By VIRGINIA LEE

BONNIE AND her husband live with her people, who are very lovely to them. When the younger couple were first married they were not well off and the doubling up was necessary for them

Now, however, they could run an establishment of their own, or at least pay something toward their own keep in Bonnie's parents home, but the husband isn't at all anxious to contribute toward their living expenses, but he has several times mentioned having a place of their own.

Bonnie has felt that if they continue to live with her father and mother they should help with expenses, and, in time, when her people are old, take over the house and take care of them.

This house belonging to the wife's parents does not apparently seem like home to the husband, and Bonnie herself confesses she doesn't take much interest in housekeeping in her childhood home. Her parents act hurt, however, if she mentions leaving them. They do not feel free to invite their young friends to come to see them or act as if it was their own home.

You married your husband, you know, Bonnie, and promised to "leave all others and cleave only unto him," and it seems to me that you owe him a home of his own. Of course your parents will miss you very much, but after all, that is what parents have to expect when their children marry. They have to "lose" them to a certain extent. It is right and natural, and they should not let themselves be hurt.

I think you should have a good talk with your mother and father, tell them frankly that your husband wants his own home and that you do too, and that you feel you should have it. They will not be selfish about it, I am sure, even if there is a bit of hurt at first Every married woman wants her own things and her own home—no matter how small and poor—to make a place for her husband, and maybe babies by and by.

As for the other matter, that of taking care of your folk when they are old, that will be a problem to solve when it comes. Don't try to shoulder that burden now. Do what you feel is best for your husband and yourself.

If you continue to stay with your parents, I think you and your husband certainly should pay your share of the expenses. That is only a fair and self-respecting way to do

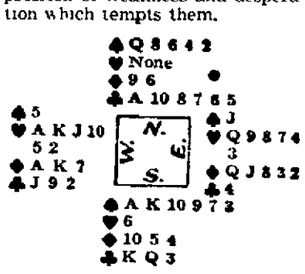
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOW TO LURE DOUBLES

ONE OF the best devices to pick up a flock of extra points is to fool your opponents into doubling a safe contract. You get a good chance to do this when you feel sure the auction will be kept open if you pass on one of your turns. If you then back in with a later bid, you give the enemy an impression of weakness and desperation which tempts them.



(Dealer. West. North-South vulnerable)

One heart was West's opening call on this deal and when North passed, East bid 2-Hearts. South put in a 2-Spade bid at this point, over which West bid 3-Hearts. North passed again and East bid 4-Hearts. Being vulnerable, South hesitated to bid again and was surprised to hear a 4-Spade bid from North. When this passed around to West, he promptly doubled with the feeling that his side would gain a fine score against his vulnerable opponents

The diamonds A and K were cashed by him and followed by a diamond, which was ruffed. The remainder of the tricks were captured by South for a splendid score with one overtrick, doubled.

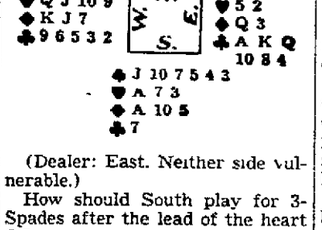
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should South play for 3-Spades after the lead of the heart Q?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I have never seen anything more ludicrous than Roderick's deflation as his older brother put his quiet question, "Just what do you think you're doing, Rod?" He whirled, looked at Bill with his mouth wide open, then dropped his eyes and, scuffing one foot along the floor, stammered

"Aw, nuthin' much, nuthin' at all"

"Oh! Yeah?' Bill drawled "To me it sounded like a great deal of something You'd better "

He had arrived just in time, for almost simultaneously with his first question, we had heard the turning of the key in the lock, something evidently accomplished only with difficulty by Junior Flushed, defiant and furiously angry, he did not get it open until Bill was answering Roderick's protest of innocence. Then my small son dashed out and flew at Roderick, only to find himself stopped by Bill's capable and expert grasp of his shoulder

"Steady youngster," he said "You won't get any eggs fried this way. Besides, there's been mess enough for one day. And you don't need to tell me what's up. I happened to hear young Roderick here giving his little jungle calls.

Bill Sarcastic.

"He has such a funny bone, Rod has," Rod's older brother went on judicially, still with a firm grasp on Junior's collar and a stern eye upon Roderick "Everything makes him laugh, especially when somebody else cries. You see, he never cries himself"

He paused, and from our peephole we could see Roderick "perk up" and consciously preen himself.

"But there are times when he makes other people laugh plenty," Bill went on in matter of fact tones. and I saw Roderick shoot a quick, distinctly worried look at him

"Suppose you go back into that room, Junior," he went on, "bring that low chair to the door and sit down in it while I tell you a little story. You might fall over from laughing too hard before I get through"

Tells of Rod's Letter.

"Did you ever know," Bill began conversationally, "about the letter old Rod wrote to Betty Gibbs after you and he had that fight because she let you go out in the boat with her, and made him stay on shore?"

"Bill!" Roderick's voice was a howl of anguish, but Bill paid no attention to him. He looked at Junior, awaiting his answer.

"No," Junior said at last, and I knew by his voice and face that he was both bewildered and embarrassed, yet humanly hopeful of hearing something which might turn the tables on Roderick. "I never knew nuthin'—anything I mean," he corrected himself meticulously—"about it"

Katherine nudged me, and I knew that she was suppressing a chuckle.

"Your training holds, even in the tensest moments," she gibed noiselessly, but I was too intent upon the little drama being played out before us to answer her

First to Hear It.

"Well, then you'll appreciate this," Bill went on. "You're the very first one to hear about it, because I was the one who found the letter when Betty sent it back to him with a nice, little, appreciative note scribbled across the bottom You'll laugh yourself sick when you hear that note," Bill predicted with a quiet chuckle.

"Bill, you heel!" Roderick shrilled "If you dast—"

"Not even Hank or Aunt Katherine nor Betty's mother know anything about it," Bill went on unheeding. "I guess Betty was afraid her mother might read it and laugh herself to death, and that was the reason she sent it back. She ought to have kept it and framed it. I never read anything so funny in my life I'm sure I can remember every word of it. This is the way it begins—"

But at that instant a tornado struck him. Roderick, goaded beyond endurance, choking with sobs, with tears streaming down his contorted face, was hugging Bill desperately around the neck, in a frantic endeavor to close his lips

"Bill!" he sobbed, "please, please don't tell that! I'll die if you do Besides, you promised you would not."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 3.

Although there is a most definite force operating for stabilizing the work and fortunes generally, yet there may be peculiar situations to encounter in which strangers or new adventures may figure. Be wise in these and use extra precautions with papers, writings, travel and romantic associations.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which there may be many sudden and surprising events, although the general trend is toward a stability of the affairs and a soundness of property conditions or investments Faithful work should bring reward, but radical change seems imminent.

A child born on this day may have conflicting characteristics. Although having a quick, active brain, with an adventurous spirit and much ingenuity, yet it may possess stability and depth. It may be caustic of speech and fiery tempered.

Try some of the bulbous iris. Most of us are pretty well acquainted with the German Siberian and Japanese; but most garden folks have the idea that the bulbous iris are none too hardy. You will always have fairly good luck with them, but extra care must be taken in their cultivation.

Ball Fringe for Airy Swing

We like them in rayon voile—any pastel shade trimmed with contrasting ball fringe. And they're stunning in white printed silk—alike on both sides—with a floral pattern of rose, lilac, green, blue.

Our diagram shows how simple the clever cascade and triangular valance are to make. Cut both from one strip of material 30 inches wide and long enough to reach from top of valance board to 6 inches below middle of window.

Apply fringe to edges A-B and B-C of valance triangle. Hem edge A-C and tack along top of valance board, gathering ends A and C softly in hand before tacking.

Turn cascade triangle over, hem edges A-D and C-D, finish A-C with fringe. Lay in pleats, baste, press. Tack to valance board, finish with rosette.

Send 10c for your copy of New Ideas in Making Curtains and Draperies to Mansfield News-Journal, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of booklet.
